APPENDIX I

This Appendix comprises a series of additional passages found in different MSS which were either too long to be included in the foregoing footnotes to the constituted text, or not sufficiently connected with the main thread of the narration, or were otherwise deemed not important enough for being included in the main critical apparatus

The variants cited below these Appendix passages are of the same order as those cited below the additional ( star ) passages in the footnotes to the constituted text, so that, in both of them, corrupt readings, discrepant readings of single MSS, and minor variants are generally ignored, and obvious scribal errors silently corrected. Furthermore, the variants of the short prose formulaic references (such as सजय उवाच) have been uniformly ignored here

In the case of Appendix passage no 2, additional variants are introduced from K<sub>7</sub> and in the case of no 3, the Gītāsāra ( the text of which has been critically constituted ), from Ś<sub>1</sub>, Ś<sub>3</sub> and K<sub>2</sub>, for which see detailed description of the Critical Apparatus given in the Introduction

APPENDIX II

This Appendix is primarily a list of Sanskrit citations from the Bhīṣmaparvan embedded in the abridged paraphrase of that parvan in the Old-Javanese as edited by Dr J Gonda in the Bibliotheca Javanica, No 7 (1936). The page and line reference in column I of the Appendix refers to the above edition. The Sanskrit citations are introduced by the Old-Javanese author at variable intervals, and are also immediately translated, fairly closely, into the Old-Javanese. But, in between these citations, and as their connecting links, are found bits of prose narrations in Old-Javanese, which can be used as evidence, if not for the form, at least for the substance of the epic story as current in Java towards the end of the first millennium of the Christian era. For the Bhagavadgītā portion of the Bhīṣmaparvan (our chapters 23-40), Dr J Gonda has published (1935) a complete translation into English of the Old-Javanese paraphrase of the Bhagavadgītā including its renderings of the Sanskrit citations. This has enabled us to ascertain not only what parts of the Bhagavadgītā are actually quoted, but also what additional parts are presupposed and what parts entirely omitted in the Javanese version of the poem (vide the Tabular Statement on pp 728-729). For the rest of the Bhīṣmaparvan a somewhat similar help is available in the same Dutch scholar's Aanteekeningen bij het Oud-Javaansche Bhīṣmaparvā (Bibliotheca Javanica 7a, 1937), the first chapter of which furnishes a critical comparison of the Old Javanese text with the texts given by the Calcutta, Bombay and Madras editions of the parvan (our chapters 41 to end), while its concluding chapter gives the results of a similar comparison for the cosmographical episode in the Old-Javanese Bhīṣmaparvan (our chapters 5-13), as a result of which Dr Gonda endorses the findings of Dr Luise Hilgenberg in her Doctorate thesis entitled Die Kosmographische Episode im Mahābhārata und Padmapurāna (Stuttgart, 1934), against which I have expressed my dissent in a paper contributed to A Volume of Eastern and Indian Studies presented to Professor F W Thomas (1939), pp 19 ff

In the present Appendix the Sanskrit citations culled from the Old Javanese Bhīṣmaparvan are compared with the corresponding portions in the three current editions of the Epic, viz the Calcutta edition of 1834-1839 (Editio Princeps), the Bombay edition as brought out by Ganapat Krishnaji in 1863 (the Vulgate), and the Madras edition of P P S Sastrī (1931-1936 Bhīṣmaparvan 1934), as well as with the Critical Edition. In the case of the text of the Bhagavadgītā portion, however, its Kashmir Recension (as represented by the edition of Pandit Lakshman Raina, Shrinagar (1933), has been set forth in an additional column of comparison, the general results of which will be found dealt with in the Introduction. Complete identity between the passages compared is shown by the sign of equality (=), general agreement with minor modifications is shown by the sign plus-or-minus (±), while greater divergences are indicated by the tilde (~) which is used to denote difference amounting virtually to a free paraphrase. The Sanskrit citations are reproduced with their orthographical peculiarities (as regards ऋ, ॠ, and the sibilants), while important variant readings given by Dr Gonda are inserted as footnotes.

The results of these comparisons are somewhat important for determining not only the particular recension of the Bhīṣmaparvan (and the Bhagavadgītā) which was familiar to the Old-Javanese author, but also, possibly, for determining the particular stage in the evolution of the Mahābhārata itself there presupposed. Remarks on this topic, which turns upon the introduction of a passage from the Śāntiparvan at the end of the Javanese version of the Bhīṣmaparvan, will be found in the Introduction.

APPENDIX III

 In his edition (1846) of the Bhagavadgītā in Sanskrit, Canarese and English in parallel columns, Rev J Garrett has given a selection of variant readings collected from several good Malayalam MSS. Many of these variants have already appeared in our Critical Apparatus, but there are a few that are new and deserve to be recorded. No particulars of the MSS are available.

CRITICAL NOTES

For additional variants, further extracts from commentaries, corrections other than those in the constituted text, and minor improvements, see Addenda et Corrigenda. Special topical bibliographies have been provided where necessary. In addition to works included therein, I have occasionally cited some Purāṇa texts from the following editions: Brahmāṇḍa, Vāyu, Varāha (Bibliotheca Indica), Matsya, Mārkaṇḍeya, Skanda, Viṣṇudharmottara (Venkateśvara Press, Bombay), Agni, Padma (Ānandāshrama, Poona), Harivaṃśa (Chitrashala Press, Poona), The Rāmāyana (Nirnaya Sagar Press, Bombay), Viṣṇu-purāṇa (with Ratnagarbha's com., Bombay 1889).

I

3 °) The late-Northern reading कौरवाः समवर्तन्त (given by K<sub>1</sub> s B Da Dn D<sub>1</sub>-7 s G<sub>1</sub>, as also by D<sub>9</sub> 10), is prompted by the desire to make Saṃjaya's reply refer to the three—Kauravas, Pāṇḍavas and Somakas—about whom Dhṛtarāṣṭra had inquired.

5 °) The v l अपिधाय of T<sub>1</sub> G<sub>1</sub> can yield the sense of 'covering' or 'cutting off retreat,' which is plausible. —The पूर्वभागे प्रत्यङ्मुखा description of 5* should refer to the Kauravas, who are not, however, actually mentioned.

7 When the वृद्धs and बालs were left behind, it was felt as incorrect to describe the earth as निष्पुरुषा, so अश्वपुरुष is taken to mean horse-rider. The reading of D<sub>1</sub>—निरश्वा पुरुषव्याघ्र रथ—cleverly dodges the whole difficulty. The अन्य in 7<sup>c</sup> as read by K<sub>8</sub>, denotes पुरुषs other than old men and boys. We can take पुरुष to denote the fighting man power, which cannot be predicated of the बालवृद्ध people left behind.

8 °) तावदेव (for तावद्देशात्) a lect diff which is read by M<sub>1</sub>-3 s समावृत्त, 'turned up together', for which we have a late Northern lect fac समायात —<sup>d</sup>) O-J alone reads मारुतमत्तम (for पार्थिव°).

9 °) D<sub>1</sub> s T<sub>2</sub> M<sub>2</sub> s give the v l पर्याक्रमत, which is perhaps grammatically more correct.

11 °) सज्ञा should denote general watch words. In 12<sup>b</sup> (where the word is repeated) it signifies individual pseudo names, seeing that अभिज्ञानानि or 'means of recognition' are there sub-divided into सज्ञा (pseudo-names) and आमरणानि (detachable marks of identification like rings). The v l शय्या in 11<sup>a</sup>, with the consequent v l रात्रौ (used to avoid repetition of सज्ञा), can hardly go with विविधास्तास्ता or even with विविधा alone. The v l शिक्षा, given by D<sub>8</sub> alone, avoids all difficulty and may be a later improvement.

13 °) ध्वजाग्र Cf Arthasāstra, Shama Shastri, p. 62 line 12, p. 142 line 17, etc. The word अग्र in the sense of 'total number' occurs in Ādi 2 135, 177, 189. Cc wrongly renders the word by ध्वजमुखं ध्वजोपरिभागं वा.

14 °) The Southern variant राज- for नाग may be due to the failure to see that नाग here means not snakes or Nāga princes, but elephants.

15 °) सेर्य, the irregular acc. plu., could have been retained, but सेरी is given by K<sub>0</sub>-; B Dn D<sub>1</sub> s s s T<sub>1</sub> G<sub>1</sub> s s M. Not every archaic form need be original.

20 °) सैन्येन रजसा— Cf 42 28, 4 31 5. The word सैन्य, formed from सेना by Pāṇini 4 4 45 in the sense of तेन समवैति, is usually masculine, and the sense can hardly suit रजस्, as it is not a constiluent part of the army When formed according to Vārtika 1 to Pāṇini 5 1 124, सैन्य means the same as सेना, and is a neuter noun In our passage it is obviously an adj from सेना (as PW understands it in 42 28 Cn explains it as सेनाभवेन), and there is no other termination by which it can be formed except perhaps स्यन् If so, the fact can permit the inference that this termination was not exclusively स्वार्थे

26-32 Cf Manu 7 90-94

29 <sup>a</sup>) पदातेन, a false form at times met in ancient literature, which several MSS attempt to rectify.

32 Since charioteers and horses were frequently wounded in the battle, सूत and पुर्यस should, in this context, preferably mean 'heralds and guides' MSS Ko 1 om st 32, which may not be by hapl, since these MSS read कदाचन (for कथन्न) in 31<sup>d</sup>

2

1 <sup>a</sup>) = (var 20<sup>a</sup>) It is obvious that the observation was carried on for some days, and not just on the day of the battle cf note on 23<sup>a</sup> below.

6 <sup>b</sup>) एन obviously refers to कालपर्याय The failure to see this has given rise to various attempts at text-improvement

8 <sup>a</sup>) Noteworthy is the curious and common variant वाराणसीश्वरो (!), found in Ko-2 (for वराणासीश्वरो)

9 <sup>a</sup>) नपरोक्ष as one word, since सर्व न परोक्ष can imply किञ्चित् परोक्ष किञ्चिदपरोक्ष

2 17-3 42 For the omens and portents, cf Weber, Zwei vedische Texte über Omina und Portenta, 1858, Kern, Varāhamihira's Brhat-Samhitā (Bibl Ind), 1865, Ballālasena, Adbhutasāgara, Benares 1905, Bolling and Negelein, The Parīkṣas of the Atharvaveda, Leipzig 1910, D G Kohlbrugge, Atharvaveda-Parīkṣa über Omina, Wagningen 1938 The last mentioned book cites other literature, and cross references to Sanskrit texts

17 Cf B 7 7 36 — <sup>b</sup>) वलै 'in congregations' Inaccessible mountain-peaks is the natural habitat of these birds, from whence they fly in congregations towards वनान्त with a view to pounce from thence upon their prey वल् can also be understood as a species of bird for which वल् or वट is given as a variant — <sup>c</sup>) The S variant ध्वजाग्रै (for वनान्तेषु) involves a duplication of the portent mentioned in 3 41<sup>cd</sup> below

19 <sup>c</sup>) The lect diff कृता, 'cranes,' given by Ko-2 M is changed by Ko-2 L D T<sub>2</sub> into the more familiar कृता, already mentioned in 17<sup>b</sup>

20 <sup>cd</sup>) Cf B 7 77 3, B 16 1 4, 2 13

21 Cf 6 108 <sup>acd</sup>, also Adbhutasāgara, p 361f The परिष्ठा, 'cloud birds' (परिष्ठाकाग रश्मिदण्डा — Arjunamīśra) have to be distinguished from परिधि, 'halo'

22 Quoted in the Adbhuta-sāgara with r 1 मयाय (for क्षयाय) Nilakantha's explanation of this stanza, which he understands as referring to a no-moon day, is not convincing The idea intended appears to be that the Sun by day and the Moon and the stars by night were both blazing so fiercely that night could not be distinguished from day

23 <sup>a</sup>) Reading आलक्षे (for अलक्ष्य), and हीन (for हीन), P C Sengupta (Journal, RASB, Vol III, 1937, No I, pp 101-119) understands this as an observation made on the very morning of the beginning of the battle, and since this cannot be a full-moon day accordingly to any authority, Sengupta proposes to understand the full moon day as an anumatī-paurnamāsī, i e, the preceding day or even the day before that<sup>1</sup> All this is utterly unnecessary पौर्णमासी कार्त्तिकीम् is an accusative of duration The stanza is quoted in the Adbhuta-sāgara, p 31

25 Nilakantha explains तयोर्भूचरयोरप्यन्नरिक्षे उल्लुख सुध्यतो प्रणादम् The Atharvaparīkṣa LVIIb, 3 1—

प्रवृत्तप्रेतमार्जारवराहानुगनास्था ।

सखना नि स्वनाश्चापि पनन्ति धरणीतले ॥ tells us that meteors, when they reach the earth, are often वराहप्रेतशार्दूलमिहमार्जारवारणैस्तुल्या and, as such, forebode calamity (ibid, st 4-5)

26 Quoted in Adbhutasāgara, p 427 Cf Hari

<sup>1</sup> See Ait Brāhmana, xcvii 17

varṇa, Bhaviṣyaparvan, 46 18-19, Matsya 230 1-2, Brhatsamhitā 46 8

28 These birds are together enumerated in Athar Pari LXXc, 24 4-5

29 <sup>cd</sup>) Quoted in Adbhutasāgara, p 670, with v l पतगा (for पतय) The swarms of locusts hovering about at the rising of the sun are compared to warriors with spears riding the rays of the sun The metaphor is misunderstood by Ko-2, which read अश्वत्तरपते प्रजा, as also by P C Roy, who translates 29<sup>c</sup> as a separate sentence.

30 <sup>ab</sup>) Quoted in Adbhutasāgara, p 311 — <sup>cd</sup>) वयं as neuter belongs to older usage, and may have led to various attempts to avoid it in the late-Northern group of MSS

31 <sup>cd</sup>) Quoted, ibid, p 204 The exact astronomical phenomenon is not explained by any ancient authority पृष्ठं हून 'thrown into shade' can imply that वसिष्ठ (and the other stars of the Great Bear constellation) were shining very dimly, which implies a disaster Cf Brhatsamhitā 13 7

32 <sup>ab</sup>) Cf Adbhutasāgara p 146 — चरन्कुत्तिका रोहिण्योर्मुखे चापि दारुणः । — <sup>cd</sup>) Quoted, ibid, p 53

1 <sup>a</sup>) Cf B 16 2 9 — <sup>cd</sup>) Quoted in Adbhutasāgara, p 443

2 <sup>ab</sup>) Quoted, ibid, p 562 — <sup>cd</sup>) The Bengali-Vulgate as also the S variants introduce ideas unconnected with विकृतप्रसूति, which is the current context

3 Quoted (with var) in Adbhutasāgara, p 562

4 Quoted (with var) in Adbhutasāgara, p 562 — <sup>cd</sup>) A चतुर्दंष्ट्र or double headed eagle is a motif associated with one of the arches at Taxila (Marshall Guide to Taxila, p 74 and illustration) This ominous motif seems to have been used there as a protective charm

5-7 Quoted (with var) in Adbhutasāgara, p 562-563 — In 6<sup>b</sup> श्वा should strictly be शुनी As 6<sup>ab</sup> introduces beasts and 6<sup>cd</sup> birds, the variants like कुजराण् or गर्दमान् have to be rejected — 7<sup>a</sup>) प्रजायन्ते in the sense of प्रजनयन्ति

8 <sup>a</sup>) कुडका (given by Ś1 Ko 1) seems to be a variant for कुडिका, 'small water jugs' or कुडवा ('पा'), 'small wooden corn-measures' The owners, being पृथग्जना, had of course hardly an occasion for larger measures The measures dance in anticipation of repeated use during the troubled times ahead — <sup>b</sup>) स्तनपा (given by Ś1 Ko 1 Ds) is only paraphrased in K: 8 5 D: 2 6 7 The idea intended seems to be that babies in the house of the thief (स्तनवेदमनि of Ś1 is evidently a mislection for स्तेन* given by Ko-2) sing aloud in anticipation of better trade

9 Quoted (with var) in Adbhutasāgara, p 485

10 <sup>ab</sup>) Quoted in Adbhutasāgara, pp 444 Nilakantha explains पश्यानि, महान्ति, उत्पलानि क्षुद्राणीति भेदः । कुमुदानि चन्द्रोदयविकासीनि तान्येव । The Adbhutasāgara quotes बृहद्गर्गसंहिता to say —

एकवृक्षे तु नानात्व सदृश्यं फलपुष्पयोः ।

व्यत्याममयथार्थं वा परचक्रागमो भवेत् ॥

11 ॐ Cn कार्तिक्या पर हि मग्रामारम्भः । तत्र तुलास्थ-मर्कः राहुर्पैति । तदा एव श्वेतो ग्रहः केतुश्चित्रामतिक्रामति, स्वा-त्यादौ वर्तते । नित्यं समसप्तकस्थौ राहुकेतू इदानीमेकराशिगनौ महानिष्टसूचकाविति भावः । ॐ

12 <sup>cd</sup>) Quoted in Adbhutasāgara, p 196, with the v l तारकम् (for तिष्ठति)

13 Cf 5 141 8, where अङ्गारकः was said to be वक्र in ज्येष्ठा

15 श्यामो ग्रहः This is the S reading, which is however found in K: In view of the fact that the श्वेतग्रह was already described in st 11 as चित्रामा- क्रम्य तिष्ठति, Cn is forced to invent द्वितीय उपग्रह वेतु- सम् । This is obviously an ancient error that has found its way in practically all N MSS. The point of describing the ज्येष्ठ as a तेजस्वि नक्षत्र would be lost if the ग्रह that is to overwhelm it had been already श्वेत. The ग्रह was black and blazing and aptly described as सधूम महपावक प्रज्वलित

16 <sup>ab</sup>) Quoted in Adbhutasāgara, p 206

17 Quoted, ibid, p 97

18 Quoted, ibid, p 453

19 Quoted, ibid, p 643

20 Quoted (with var), ibid, p 478f

24 <sup>cd</sup>) Quoted (with var), ibid, p 204

25 Quoted (with var), ibid, p 224, with the gloss सवत्सरनाम्नि वर्षे स्थायिनौ सवत्सरस्थायिनौ. Of the astronomical explanation in Cn — The repetition, mostly by Bengali and late Devanāgarī MSS, of 29 (with var) after 25 was evidently accidental to begin with, but variants एकपक्षे (K<sub>1</sub> B Da D<sub>5</sub>), एकाह्ना हि (Dn D<sub>1</sub>-8), एकत्राहि (T<sub>1</sub> G<sub>1</sub> M<sub>2</sub>) for एकमासे
(given by Ś<sub>1</sub> Ko-8 & D<sub>2</sub> 8 & 7 T<sub>2</sub> G<sub>1</sub> 8 M<sub>1</sub> 8-5) gave it the status of independence, with the result that the repeated stanzas came to be considered as two distinct statements. The Madras ed reads
देवमाने (for एकमासे) <sup>1</sup>

27 <sup>a</sup>) A marginal addition (see m) in K<sub>8</sub> explains the three पूर्व as पूर्वा, पूर्वाषाढा and पूर्वाभाद्रपदा.
Dn alone reads छत्रेषु for पूर्वेषु, and Cn explains, with the help of a long quotation from नरपतिविजय, the ominous implications of certain constellations being छत्रः

28 Quoted in Adbhutasāgara, p 85. When चयोदशी becomes अमावास्या in consequence of the क्षय of two तिथि (other than pratipadā or amāvāsyā), the fortnight is called विश्वपक्ष. The reading सूर्यचन्द्री (given by Cd alone, presupposes a full moon ending
(Pūrṇimānta) month, whereas passages like B 16
44 2 support a no moon ending (Amānta) month.
The possibility of these two Mbh texts belonging to two different times or regions it is difficult to either prove or disprove. A possible way of escape, retaining the चन्द्रसूर्य sequence, would be to suppose that the lunar eclipse in the fortnight preceding the विश्वपक्ष fortnight was what is technically known as a ग्रस्तास्त lunar eclipse, but it is a question whether such an eclipse is at all possible under the circumstances. The text does not hint at it — <sup>c</sup>) Adbhutasāgara (p 86) (reading एकाह्ना in pāda b) gives the variant ग्रही जाती, which it thus explains

ग्रही जाती, मुखपुच्छाभ्यां ग्रासी जातावित्यर्थः । एतच्च अपर्वग्रहण द्विविधम्, राहुकृत त्वष्टकृत च । Tvaṣṭr is elsewhere described as a श्यामो ग्रह

31 <sup>b</sup>) K<sub>8</sub> त्रयोदशीम् (for चतुर्दशीम्) on the assumption that the phenomenon belongs to the विश्वपक्षपक्ष alluded to in st 28. The correction is not needed, as there can be a चतुर्दशी in a विश्वपक्ष-कृष्णपक्ष

32 <sup>ab</sup>) Cf B 7 77 4-5, B 9 58 59<sup>ab</sup> — <sup>cd</sup>) Quoted in Adbhutasāgara, p 413 — <sup>e</sup>) Quoted,

26<sup>cd</sup>, B 7 7 38-39

33 <sup>ab</sup>) Quoted in Adbhutasāgara, p 330 with v l अनय समवाप्त्यर्थ of Dn D<sub>1</sub> 8 — <sup>cd</sup>) Quoted, ibid, with the v l of Dn D<sub>1</sub> 8 and allied MSS

36 <sup>a</sup>) महाभूता (masc) as in Sabhā 134*, line 1, in the sense of the 'Great Powers' behind the elements. The MSS that read चत्वार सागरा understand (like Cn) महाभूता as an adj. The correct reading चतुर सागरान् (accus) is given by Ś<sub>1</sub> Ko-2 alone — <sup>cd</sup>) Quoted in Adbhutasāgara, p 353
Cf 3 176 43<sup>ab</sup>, B 16 1 2

38 <sup>ab</sup>) Cf 6 4 16

39 The Adbhutasāgara (p 418) quotes बृद्धगर्ग—

41 <sup>cd</sup>) Cf. 4 41 21<sup>ab</sup>

42 <sup>b</sup>) The late-Northern reading व्याला requires us to supply an acc for प्रकिरन्त, and involves duplication with 42<sup>d</sup> — <sup>d</sup>) Cn explains the late-Northern reading सलिलाभया by प्रवेदयुक्ता !

45 <sup>b</sup>) The reading यदि वध्यन्ति of K<sub>8</sub>-8 B<sub>1</sub> 8 &
Dn D<sub>1</sub> 2 & 8, as also of D<sub>2</sub> 10, is slightly better documented than वध्यन्ते यदि of K<sub>2</sub> B<sub>2</sub> Da D<sub>5</sub>-7,

but हन्यते यदि of Ś1 Ko 1 would seem to support the text

46 Ś1 gives the colophon at the end of 3 22 also

4

2 <sup>b</sup>) कालवादी (K1 B D1 s s S), "claiming allegiance to the ancient 'Kāla' Philosophy", which specialised, amongst other things, in उत्पत्तयः

4 <sup>a</sup>) Our text, supported by late Northern and S sources, is opposed by Ś1 Ko-3 s D1 2 c, which read प्रकुरुष्व मम प्रियम्

6 <sup>a</sup>) Cd, which gave a successful interpretation of 6<sup>b</sup>, fails us here. It takes मनि = शोभने and reads यथा पथि as two words. That renders यथा unnecessary. यथापथि (given by Ś1 Ko-3 s D1-3 M) can be taken as archaic for यथापथम्, following the rule ममामान्त-विधिगन्तव्य. The idea intended is, यथापथ गमने [दुर्वोधन-निग्रहेण] शक्ये सति, कालप्रयुक्ता तव उत्पद्यप्रवृत्तिः. The T1 G1 reading, adopted by the Madras Ed., is an evident lect fac.

10 <sup>a</sup>) The text is given by Ś1 Ko-2. The prep अपि implies that Dhrtarāstra wished his reply to be considered as final. The late-Northern and the S variants are both lect fac.

12 <sup>c</sup>) The Ś1 Ko-3 D1 reading णे (for -पि ते) is equally acceptable.

20 <sup>b</sup>) The late-Northern variant हेपिमेवो हयाना (for 'तेवाहयाना') hardly fits, as हेपितः cannot be 'seen'. The corresponding Śāntiparvan passage reads — सुखवर्णश्च घूनाम् 22 <sup>b</sup>) दक्षिणा (adv), given by K1 D1 alone (besides MS No 11317 from Baroda dated Samvat 1792 and marked L on the collation sheets but not included in the Crit App), is lect diff indirectly supported by दक्षिणा of Ś1 K2 4 B D2 Dn D4 s s, and is to be construed with 22<sup>a</sup>.

32 <sup>c</sup>) सनिपात here should mean the same thing as in 29<sup>b</sup>, i.e., 'crowding together, rout pellmell, collapse'. Cn, however, explains it as योयाना मघर्ष. Victory by brute force was said to be the worst victory as good as defeat, because of the bad morale engendered even amongst the victors. The fright-psychology born of सनिपात is worse still (ततो व्यङ्ग) For 32<sup>cd</sup>, cf. B12 94 1<sup>cd</sup>.

33 <sup>c</sup>) व्यवधूता, 'not to be shaken or routed'

34 <sup>c</sup>) सुपर्णोपचिर्ति = सुपर्ण + उपचिर्ति, rather than सुपर्ण + अपचिर्ति — <sup>a</sup>) The Ś1 Ko-2 D1 variant महत्तामपि is probably, like the late-Northern महत्या अपि, due to attraction by सेनाया in the next line. Both these variants require अपचिर्ति in 34<sup>c</sup> to be understood as नाश. But सुपर्ण becomes in that case a redundant nominative, being already present in 34<sup>a</sup>. The text as in D3 S.

For the cosmographical chapters 6-13, compare, besides the literature cited at the beginning of the Crit App to the chapter, W Kirfel Die Kosmographie der Inder, Bonn and Leipzig, 1920, and Schubring's review of the same, ZDMG, Band 75 (1921) pp 254-275, Kirfel Bhāratavarsa, Stuttgart, 1931, Cunningham, Ancient Geography, (second edition, 1924), N L Dey, Geographical Dictionary, Calcutta, 1927, Bimala Churn Law Mountains of India (Calcutta Geographical Society Publications, No 5), and Rivers of India (ibid, No 6), 1944. Correspondences with the several Purāṇa texts are given in the Crit App, although not exhaustively. Cross-references to Mbh and to Vālmiki's Rāmāyana are also at times given.

10 <sup>a</sup>) त्रमानि, the reading of Ś1 Ko 1 Da D3 s M, is derived from √ त्रस् 'to tremble' of त्रमरेण. The word is not an exclusively Jain technicality, as is often assumed.

14 <sup>ab</sup>) Considerable diversity prevails in the MSS and in kindred Purāṇa texts as to this enumeration. The Madras ed actually names five and says that they are seven! The Viṣṇupurāṇa reading (1 5 51<sup>ab</sup>) comes nearest to our text, and, like K2-3 B D (except D1 s s), gives a hiatus between the Pādas.

18 <sup>a</sup>) The enumeration can be thus represented

In the final count of 24, the five elements are included, whereas अण्डज and स्वेदज are passed over without specifying the varieties under each

6

4 Only the Ks & D2 & S readings can make the enumeration गुणोत्तर. The faulty sequence is found in the Padmapurāṇa as well as in the O-J version

5 <sup>ed</sup>) This line could have been omitted, particularly if we had read, with Ś1 Ko-2 Cd, भूमे (for भूमि) in 4<sup>d</sup>. But in the corresponding passage in the Āranyakaparvan, a variation of the line is found in 3 202 5<sup>ed</sup>

10 <sup>ab</sup>) For धातव, the Padmapurāṇa reads धावन्ति (cf धावत, of D<sub>0</sub>, meaning perhaps 'fluid-essences', 'diversified effects')

15 <sup>ab</sup>) For the earth's reflection in the moon-mirror, cf Raghuvamśa 14 40

16 <sup>a</sup>) समावापे is given by M, the locative in 'समावापे' of Ś1 Ko 1 can be understood as 'in the matter of'

7

4 <sup>a</sup>) The more precise M1-3 & reading नवसाहस उच्यते is also given by the O-J version and the Purāṇas generally

6 <sup>b</sup>) Our text and the O-J version name the second वर्ष as हेमवत (after the mountain to the south of it) while M<sub>2</sub> and most of the Purāṇas name it हेमकुट (after the mountain to the north of it). This difference in nomenclature may indicate difference in tradition. It will also be noted that, having reached the middlemost and the most important वर्ष with मेरु at the centre, our text gives a detailed description of that first, and proceeds to the next वर्ष only with st 35. The O-J version as also the Purāṇas generally take up the descriptions more methodically

7 <sup>a</sup>) For प्रागायत we have, in the corresponding Purāṇa passages, the variant उदगायत. That would make a quadrangle of mountains नील and निषध running East-West, and मान्यवान् and गन्धमान running South-North, the mountain मेरु occupying the centre of the quadrangle. The Purāṇa account is thus more schematic

12-13 The Purāṇas do not seem to have preserved this legend

18 <sup>a</sup>) For the dropping of the visarga before स्तुन्वन्ति, cf Whitney, 173a

20 <sup>a</sup>) उग्रना M along with Ks D<sub>1</sub> D<sub>2</sub> D<sub>3</sub>, give the grammatically correct form without the visarga

26-27 There does not seem to be any passage in the Purāṇas describing this Moonlake, the location of which would be on the top of the mountain with the reading शिखरे in 26<sup>a</sup>, and at its base with the reading as in text

28 The O-J version does not support the T-G transposition of 6 8 8-25 after 7 28. The Madras ed follows the T-G sequence

32 Acc to the Purāṇas, Kubera dwells on the Himālaya. The present account brings him on the Gandhamādana. The Purāṇas give the description of Kubera and that of the Gandhamādana gandikās (valleys or table-lands) in separate chapters. Here they are given together. Of course Kubera is a frequent visitor of all the रत्नपर्वत (cf 6 7 31, 37). The descriptions of all these places is fanciful, and we need not require any geographical consistency in them. The later Purāṇa accounts are rather particular in the matter

35 <sup>a</sup>) नीलोत्पलधर, which Cn condemns as an अपवाद, is the reading given by Padma in the corresponding passage, and by some of our late-Northern MSS

36 <sup>a</sup>) दीवाणि, the S reading (for वर्षाणि), is supported by the Purāṇas generally 37 <sup>c</sup>) The TG reading, which puts the nouns in the ablative, is intended as an improvement, but seems to be based upon a misunderstanding 'They enjoy life length and health according to their धर्म etc'

39 The S addition, 31*, has something of a sectarian tinge about it, cf st 17 above

41 <sup>c</sup>) दृष्ट Only B<sub>1</sub> D<sub>1</sub> read द्रष्टु In the corresponding Sabhā passages (2 3 9), द्रष्टु has the support of a large number of late Northern MSS The Purāṇas generally read गङ्गानिमित्त (for गङ्गा-सुवास)

42 <sup>b</sup>) The more common reading चैत्या (described as हिरण्मया) does not suit the context The अग्निचित्रा (Āśvalāyana Śrauta 4 1 21) is probably what is meant The Padmapurāṇa variant क्षेत्रा is flat

46 <sup>b</sup>) मन्त्रिणि Cf 1 2 237, B 12 272 17, B 14 8 35 PW unnecessarily suggests changing it to सविधा Cn explains समीचीन लोकोपकारार्थं विधानम् The S variant मन्त्रिणि is lect fac, or a mistake

49 <sup>cd</sup>) O-J reads ऋपयो नित्यं तत्र (for निषधे त्रैले जीले), and transp 49<sup>ab</sup> and 49<sup>cd</sup>

50 <sup>b</sup>) M (except M<sub>5</sub>) reads नव (for मत्त), following the Purāṇas 52 <sup>ab</sup>) 33* is an unnecessary attempt to complete the relative clause यं तु

53 <sup>a</sup>) शिर is the predicate of मलयपर्वत The text follows K<sub>2</sub> D<sub>1</sub>

8

5 <sup>a</sup>) फलेषु, given also by O-J 'They yield decorations through, by means of, in the shape of, flowers' — 36*, found in S<sub>1</sub> Ko-2 M<sub>5</sub>, is also given by the Calcutta and the GK editions

9 <sup>a</sup>) For समवेप, we have the conscious emendation समशील in M<sub>1</sub>-s 5 — The addition of 37* after 9' is given by D<sub>2</sub> only and some Purāṇa texts

The sense intended is implied in 10<sup>d</sup>

10 <sup>c</sup>) For महाराज, the Padmapurāṇa reads महाभागा If the Padma reading had been original, it need not have been changed into महाराज But as महाराज did not suit the Purāṇa, it has been later changed into महाभागा There are quite a number of such instances

13 <sup>a</sup>) पूर्वभिषेकस्तु As we speak of the watersheds of a mountain-range, meaning the slopes in opposite directions, extending from an imaginary line along its ridge, which carry rain-water in opposite directions, so the forests covering the eastern or the western sides of the mountain can be described as its moisture-retainers (or, in the language of our epic, its ablutions) in those directions पूर्वभिषेक, the lect diff of D<sub>3</sub> S (except G<sub>1</sub>), as also of D<sub>9</sub> 10, is made to agree in gender with मालवन by Ś<sub>1</sub> Ko-2 D<sub>1</sub> Other variants are clearly lect fac The O-J reads पूर्वभिषेकस्तु, but om 13<sup>cd</sup> Cn, reading पूर्वभिषेकस्तु, explains पूर्वभिषेक मुख्यमिति यावत् । Reading तत्र (for तस्य) we can understand the place to be so named after the royal anointment of मद्राक्ष Cf Visnupurāṇa 2 1 22

14 <sup>c</sup>) द्वीप (found in Ś<sub>1</sub> Ko-2 D<sub>1</sub> 3 T<sub>2</sub> G<sub>1</sub>-3 M) seems to have been used here in the sense of sheltering place or protection, as in 6 15 36<sup>a</sup> and other places

16 <sup>c</sup>) The Kāśikā allows the option of द्वीप in the present compound, but the Padamañjarī on 4 1. 54 observes, अङ्गात्रेयादि भाष्येऽनुक्तमप्येतत्प्रयोगवाहुल्यादुक्ति-कारेणोक्तम् । Our MSS generally follow the प्रयोग-वाहुल्य with the exception of the S MSS, which generally are purists in a matter of this kind

18-25 TG transfer stanzas 18-25 to the earlier chapter, giving the passage a place in agreement with the Purāṇas, reading in 18<sup>a</sup> मेरोस्तु (for नीलस्य) — Through haplology, occasioned by the similar ending द्विजमत्तमा (the Padma substitution for भरतर्षभ), the Padmapurāṇa om 20<sup>cd</sup>-26<sup>cd</sup>

27 <sup>b</sup>) पूर्वान्तगण्डिका is plausibly interpreted by Cv as पूर्ववाहिनी गण्डिकानां नदी, similarly, पूर्वान्ता = पूर्वस्या दिशि अन्तं मुखं यस्या । But the variants पूर्वानु* or पूर्वा तु do not lend themselves to that interpretation of 6 7 33<sup>b</sup>. Our text follows Ś1 Ko 1 5, inasmuch as तु and नु and न्त look alike in the Śārādā, and from an original Śārādā न्त, the above variations could have arisen

28-29 Dr L Hilgenberg observes that these two stanzas are of the nature of excerpts taken from two different contexts in the Purāṇas. But by the side of 28<sup>cd</sup>, the Purāṇa line (cf 6 8 7<sup>ab</sup> above) —

देवलोकच्युता सर्वे देवरूपाश्च सर्वश

appears flat. The O-J is nearer to the Mbh text, reading ब्रह्मचारिण (for 'वादिन')

31 <sup>d</sup>) For शशिमण्डलम्, the O-J paraphrase apparently gives शिवमण्डलम्, having already explained प्रविशन्ति दिवाकरम् and आदित्यतापतप्ता to imply सूर्यमण्डलप्रवेश. The variant रविमण्डलम्, given by S (except M1), seems hardly correct

9

2 <sup>b</sup>) N (except K8-D2) mechanically repeats 7 7<sup>b</sup> (= 8 18<sup>b</sup>) gone before. The O-J and S generally, however, read as in text — <sup>c</sup>) It is interesting to note that what is called here रमणकवर्प was called by the alternative name of श्वेतवर्प, in 7 35<sup>a</sup> as well as in st 5 below

5 <sup>ab</sup>) K8 3 D2 read the line twice, the first time transp the pādas but accurate in substance, the second time going all wrong as to facts. The O-J and S agree in reading as in text

6 <sup>a</sup>) O-J reads यक्षभूता (for यक्षानुगा)

8 <sup>b</sup>) Ś1 Ko-2 are alone in reading विमलानि च (for मनुजाधिप). The variant has not been followed, as the Padma reading द्विजपुत्रा presupposes the text

9 <sup>d</sup>) The Ś1 Ko-2 group considers स्वयंप्रभा as the proper name of the deity, the rest consider शशिदली as the proper name. As regards st 8-9, the Ś1 Ko-2 group seems to follow some independent tradition. For शशिदली, cf 5 111

10 The Mbh description of Airāvata has points of contact with the Purāṇa description of the Ilāvṛta, the middlemost zone. Airāvata is the Jaina nomenclature for what in other accounts equals the Uttara kuru. The confusion is not that of the mere name, but there is a difference in the cosmographical view-point, and it is difficult to say a priori whether the Mbh account is earlier or later

11 <sup>d</sup>) The Ś1 Ko 1 6 reading इवावृते (for इवा वृत्) points to इलावृते of D1 6 7, suggesting contact with the Purāṇa account 15 <sup>c</sup>) वैकुण्ठ (of 21<sup>cd</sup>, 6 21 15<sup>b</sup>), is a personal name and not a place name, as it became in later literature. This description of Hari and his eight-wheeled vehicle has no parallel in the Purāṇas 17 <sup>c</sup>) Ś1 is alone in reading सक्षेपं विस्तरं चैव (as accusatives,) to go with कर्ता and कारयिना (cf 20<sup>cd</sup>). As nom., they are predicated of प्रभु

18 <sup>c</sup>) Ś1 Ko-2 D1 read सर्वश (for न यज्ञ), which is evidently a lect fac

10

5-8 There is a considerable patriotic feeling behind this description of the Land of the Bhāratas and of the great kings that loved it, which Dhṛtarāṣṭra could have appreciated. The Purāṇas have naturally no occasion for anything corresponding to these lines, and the Padmapurāṇa, which borrows the lines from our Mbh, unwittingly writes अत्र ते (instead of व) कीर्तयिष्यामि, and thereby forfeits all claim to originality

7 The Padmapurāṇa also contains the late Northern insertion of 43* after st 7

9 <sup>b</sup>) यथाश्रुतम् is found also in O-J. Samjaya does not yet claim to have made use of the divyam cakṣuḥ that he obtained from sage Vyāsa 11 <sup>c</sup>) The T1 G2 4 M4 reading स्मृतिमता (for सारवन्तो) implies knowledge of the longer Cosmographical text in the Purāṇas, where some of these ranges are named

17 <sup>b</sup>) वन्दना (K4 B Dn1 D8 7) is not certain

The variant  $\text{दा(द)दुग}$  involves repetition with 13<sup>4</sup>, and  $\text{दिग्ग$  with 15<sup>6</sup>. The  $\text{र / द-र}$  of Ko-2 could have been accepted, as this river does not occur in the present list (see, however, 6 & 27<sup>4</sup>) — <sup>c</sup>)  $\text{दिग्ग}$  (K: + B D: Dn D: + T: G: + M) is fairly documented,  $\text{दिग्ग}$  (S: Ko: + D: + ) is hardly a river name — <sup>d</sup>)  $\text{दिग्ग}$  (S: Ko: + ) is accepted, failing another equally supported variant. There is a confusion between  $\text{देहि + मर(र)नीम्}$  and  $\text{देहि + मरिनीम्}$ , giving rise to the several variants.

18 <sup>a</sup>)  $\text{दग्ग}$  (D: + T: G: M) We could also have accepted  $\text{दग्ग}$  (S: Ko: + ) The Ms tradition is divergent and uncertain.

20 <sup>c</sup>) For  $\text{दग्ग}$ , S: Ko: D: read  $\text{दिग्ग}$ , which has already occurred in 17<sup>1</sup>.

24 <sup>c</sup>) The variant  $\text{दग्ग}$  of Ka appears more probable as a river name than the variant  $\text{दग्ग}$  given by S: Ko: + . The text follows K: + B D (Dn: om) TG.

31 <sup>b</sup>) The pāda is parenthetical. 44* seems designed to make a full line of the parenthesis.

34 <sup>a</sup>) For  $\text{दग्ग}$ , TG read  $\text{दग्ग}$ , which will suit as an address to Dhrtarāṣṭra. The Purāṇas seem to have turned  $\text{दग्ग}$  (voc) into  $\text{दग्ग}$  (river name).

37 <sup>c</sup>) The Padmapurāṇa has not changed  $\text{दग्ग}$  into  $\text{दग्ग}$ . There is some point in Saṅgaya referring to the  $\text{दग्ग}$  as  $\text{दग्ग}$ . Why should the Padmapurāṇa, had it been earlier than the Mahābhārata, have affected the same mode of reference?

40 <sup>a</sup>) Notice the devices adopted by the variants to avoid hiatus between the two pādas.

43 <sup>b</sup>) For  $\text{दग्ग}$ , found in all MSS, the Cal Ld reads  $\text{दग्ग}$ . The Keralas, however, are named in 57<sup>a</sup> — <sup>c</sup>) Text as in S: only.

54 <sup>1</sup>) The people named 'Romāṇah', looking to the other peoples mentioned in the context, seem to belong to North India. The resemblance of the name to the "Romans" is probably accidental. On this point, cf The Epic View of the Earth by Hopkins, Journal, International School of Vedic and Allied Studies, Vol I 2, pp 65-87. The Salas in India by Satya Shrivastava, Lahore, 1947, p 20, 101 f. In Sabhā 28 49, the reference evidently is to a sea-faring people and their capital. The two passages are in different contexts.

56<sup>a</sup>-58<sup>4</sup> The lines are again omitted in S in spite of—or is it because of?—the fact that the people belong to the South (56<sup>d</sup>). There is a clear haplology, however, to explain the omission.

59 <sup>c</sup>) For  $\text{दग्ग}$ , cf 2 24 15<sup>c</sup>, 29 8<sup>a</sup>. For  $\text{दग्ग}$ , cf Raghuvamśa 4 78.

69-74 These stanzas have a direct bearing on the opening question of Dhrtarāṣṭra at the beginning of the chapter. The stanzas would be awkward for the Padmapurāṇa context, and are hence omitted there. But the author of the Padma compilation seems to have realized their incongruity rather late, as he has found room for the half-line 69<sup>a</sup>, which can yield sense only with the following half-line.

omitted in the Purāṇa This is a sufficient proof of the late and borrowed character of the Padma

11

3 <sup>d</sup>) As regards पुण्य (Śi Ko-2 4 5 T G M 2) and तिष्य, the authorities are about equally divided The wavy line should have been given under नि in 7<sup>b</sup>, 12<sup>d</sup>, 13<sup>c</sup>

6 <sup>d</sup>) सप्रति (st 4<sup>d</sup>) indicates that पुण्य or कलि has already come Similarly द्वापरेऽस्मिन् (14<sup>b</sup>), found also in O-J., would show that द्वापर is yet running So there results some slight confusion here, which can be avoided only if अस्मिन्, as has been suggested, means ईर्ष्यामानादिविषये

7 <sup>d</sup>) The Śi Ko-2 Ds 1 variant नृपोत्तम is for avoiding the juxtaposition of त्रियन्ते and त्रियन्ति But Padma has the latter

14 <sup>cd</sup>) After भारतवर्ष, the two next वर्षs are somewhat cavalierly treated in the concluding lines, as though in a haste to pass on to the next subparvan

12

For the entire chapter, O-J gives just two stanzas (perhaps copied from some popular manual) merely enumerating the seven Dvīpas or Ring continents and the Seven Seas — The Padma drops 3<sup>cd</sup> and modifies 4<sup>cd</sup> so as to avoid all reference to astronomical matters, and as a consequence it omits 13 38-49 As regards the account of the Dvīpas also, the Purāṇas show much confusion, the Mbh account following its own tradition

9 <sup>d</sup>) येन (= क्षीरोदेन, not शाकदीपेन) [ स = शाकदीप, not क्षीरोद ] परिवारित

10 <sup>b</sup>) This categorical statement is modified into चिराच्च त्रियन्ते जन (Matsya Purāṇa), and नाम्नाले त्रियन्ते जन (D1)

14 <sup>b</sup>) The Purāṇas give the name as उदयो, the Padma, however, reads जलदो (cf. T1 G), and T2 रूपमो The name जलदो recurs in 23<sup>c</sup>

16 The mountain रैवतक is not known to the

Matsya Purāṇa, but is found in the Brahmandā and the Vāyu texts In 16<sup>b</sup>, प्रतिष्ठित agrees with विधि, नक्षत्र being a noun in apposition

17 <sup>a</sup>) The extra line 55*, meant to describe the इयाम mountain, is given by the Bengali version and by a few late-Northern MSS

19 <sup>c</sup>) The Bengali and late-Northern reading पतग (for वर्णो द्वी) is explained by Cn as—मिश्रो वर्ण पतग इत्यर्थ But even that variant offers no answer to Dhrtarāstra's question

20 <sup>cd</sup>) The special question of Dhrtarāstra in st 18 becomes purposeful only by 20<sup>cd</sup>, which line is, however, given in Ds and Ks The variant for 20<sup>b</sup>, तन्माच्छयामो गिरि स्मृत, is not adequately supported and involves the अन्त्योन्त्याश्रय, viz the mountain is इयाम because men are इयाम, men are इयाम because the mountain is इयाम Śi reads 20<sup>b</sup> as text, but there is no explanation to follow Of the explanation given in 6 13 4<sup>cd</sup> for the कृष्ण mountain

21 <sup>b</sup>) दुर्गशैलो (is it दुर्गशैला?) is the proper name of the sixth mountain which, in the Matsya, is also called नारदपर्वत. In fact, the Purāṇa says—

दिनामान्येव वषाणि यथैव गिर्यस्तथा ।

This indicates much confusion in tradition

23 <sup>c</sup>) जल्धारात्परो, given by the M version, is also suggested by the variant जल्धारापरो of Ks The Śi Ko-2 D1-2 1 reading जल्धारापरो need not be wrong We would in that case have the mountain name and the Varsa name both in the nom case as in the two earlier cases The sixth mountain दुर्गशैल (21) is om It ought have come after 24<sup>ab</sup> As a consequence, one extra Varsa, महापुमान्, had to be enumerated at the end

25 <sup>a</sup>) परिवार्य तु, 'including or comprehending' In the corresponding Purāṇa passages, the reading is परिणाह तु or परिमाण तु — <sup>c</sup>) विख्यात = सख्यात, the late-Northern lect fac, given also by S

27 <sup>d</sup>) Do 10 read चतस्र (for चत्वार), which is an unnecessary grammatical emendation The word can go with वर्ण in the following line 30 <sup>b</sup>) कावेरका (Śi Ko-2) is not certain, but there are too many variants — <sup>c</sup>) For इक्षुवर्धनिका, the variant 'यु' of B<sub>2</sub> D<sub>11</sub> D<sub>3</sub> is noteworthy of Raghuvamśa 4 67

36 <sup>b</sup>) शण्डिका (S<sub>1</sub> K<sub>1</sub> D<sub>1</sub> D<sub>11</sub> D<sub>4</sub> T<sub>2</sub> G<sub>1</sub>), formed according to Panini 5 2 115, can mean 'persons possessing rods'. The variant शण्डिका (formed according to P 1 4 S or 12 in the sense of तेन चरन्ति or जीवन्ति) could have been equally acceptable. In the corresponding Śāntiparvan passage the preference seems to be for the latter variant, which yields a slightly better sense.

13

1 <sup>c</sup>) श्रुते, यथाश्रुतं Clearly Saṃjaya<sup>1</sup> is not yet making use of the Divyam ca/ma C<sub>1</sub> 16<sup>c</sup>

2 <sup>d</sup>) For 'घनमात्र', S<sub>1</sub> K<sub>1</sub> B<sub>2</sub> D<sub>1</sub> D<sub>11</sub> D<sub>3</sub> G<sub>1</sub> M read घन', which is nothing more than a scribal misunderstanding. Gharma is the sacrificial term for hot milk oblation. Among the variants, M<sub>1</sub> gives तुष्टमात्र.

5 <sup>e</sup>) उपासीन (Ś<sub>1</sub> K<sub>1</sub>), perhaps through case attraction only उपासीन 'seated by the side of', qualifies केनच.

8 <sup>f</sup>) Notice the sectarian variant विश्वी पन्नेश्वर (for प्रसुतांगवतो हवि) given by M<sub>1</sub> alone.

12 <sup>g</sup>) For वेनुमण्डलम्, the Padmapurāṇa has the D<sub>11</sub> variant रेणु — 'रे' रथात् (T G M<sub>1</sub> s s) is an S reading, which, in its last two letters, is supported by early-Northern MSS, while the majority of MSS indicates that 'ratha' figures in the name. The text has been adopted with some hesitation.

19-20 While Padma is alert enough to change वज्रवदन in 19<sup>b</sup> to मुनिपुत्रा, it does not notice the singular श्रुत in 20<sup>b</sup>.

34 Cn understands तस्य (34<sup>a</sup>) and त (34<sup>c</sup>) to refer to तसमूह, perhaps it can refer to each one of the elephants named, but तसमूहस्य can hardly apply to the elephants. Perhaps तस्याह = तस्या अह (by double sandhi), the reference being to समा नाम लोकमग्नि, or, better still, to मण्डलम् (32<sup>d</sup>). According to the Purāṇas, here we have a description of the लोकालोकवत, but in st 35 the description of the elephants is continued.

39 <sup>d</sup>) The GK reading प्रमाणत is not found in our MSS.

40 <sup>e</sup>) O-J reads परिमण्डलतो राजन्.

41 Since the विश्वम् or diameter of स्वमानु or राहु is 12,000 yojanas, the परिणाह or circumference can be roughly thrice that, i.e., 36,000 (यद्द्विगुणसहस्राणि). 'But learned Paurāṇikas state the larger circumference to be another sixty hundred (i.e. 42,000)'. Cf similar description of the two circumferences of the Moon in st 42, and of the Sun in st 43-44. Saṃjaya is here relying upon his studies, and not upon the Eye Divine. O-J reads 41<sup>c</sup> as in text.

42 <sup>e</sup>) Several T G MSS not included in the Crit App read एकोनपट्विंशत्युत्पत्, which is obviously the correct reading. The T G MSS of the Crit App seem to have dropped the repha in the writing. Unfortunately Ś<sub>1</sub> K<sub>1</sub> om the stanza through haplogy. The late Northern variant 'विश्वम्' is due to sheer misunderstanding.

44 <sup>a</sup>) The text अष्टपञ्चाशत् (= 58) is supported by K<sub>1</sub> B<sub>2</sub> D<sub>1</sub> D<sub>11</sub> D<sub>3</sub> S, the D<sub>1</sub> D<sub>11</sub> variant is अष्टपञ्चशत (= 1300), Ś<sub>1</sub> K<sub>1</sub> D<sub>1</sub> give अष्टपञ्चाशत, which is only a scribal error.

46 <sup>b</sup>) आम्बचक्षुषा, and not दिव्यचक्षुषा.

48-49 The Padmapurāṇa, for reasons of its own, changes राजन् into विप्रेन्द्रा and thereby lacks the subject for भवन्ति. — In 49, the Padma has almost failed in finding a good substitute for महीपाल (७ 1 २). It gives समारव्यालु or समारव्यान.

50 <sup>e</sup>) पूर्व (Ś<sub>1</sub> K<sub>1</sub> s s D<sub>2</sub> s G<sub>1</sub> s M), in the sense of '[functioning] from of yore'.

14

1 The introductory insertion 59* by Da D<sub>3</sub>, like the similar passage in the Āndhra Mahābhārataṃ, supplies a necessary connective between chapters 13 and 14. In 59*, however, Saṃjaya is made to return in a moment, meaning not that the observation was limited to a moment, but that not more than one moment was required for the journey proper.

2 <sup>d</sup>) Cf 6 114<sup>b</sup>, 115 14<sup>b</sup>, 42<sup>b</sup>

5 <sup>d</sup>) The Ś1 K D1 2 7 reading contradicts 7<sup>d</sup>, 9<sup>d</sup>, 6 15 19<sup>b</sup> Cf, however, 6 15 10<sup>c</sup> and contrast with 6 15 63<sup>d</sup>

10 <sup>c</sup>) The augmentless form, being archaic, is preferred to the regular प्रावेपत

13 <sup>a</sup>) निह्नो 'struck down' (given by Ś1 K B Da Dn D1 2 4-c 8 G1 3) could also have been legitimately preferred to निह्नन्, 'groaning'

15

3 <sup>c</sup>) किमु (K4 B2-4 Dn D2 4 6 8) gives a hiatus, which the variants seek to avoid

4 <sup>a</sup>) Ś1 Ko 1 are alone in giving the ĀtmanepadI आविशने

5 <sup>a</sup>) अनुयु (Ś1 Ko-2 D5) seems to be a lect fac for अनुप्र+इयु, the Perfect of √प्र, which is often mistaken for the Potential form इयु from √इ

12 <sup>d</sup>) समवेष्ट (Ś1 Ko 1 D1 3 T G1 3 4 M1-4), 'shrank together' समवेष्टन, छि Cn त्रियमाणपशुवद्धन्-पादविक्षेप कृतवत् छि

21 <sup>c</sup>) It is evident that आचक्ष्व मे should have been आचक्षमे for clarity, but no MS gives this reading S makes the best of a bad job by reading the following pāda as गर्म चाद्य न विशहे The mistake (if we must regard it as such) could have arisen owing to the similarity of मे and मे, and also because आचक्ष्व मे or आचक्ष्व मजय is a constantly recurring phrase Hence no emendation need have been proposed

26-28 These stanzas form a कुल्कन् — 26<sup>d</sup>) The pāda is divergently read in the S MSS The Madras ed reads as in T2 The M version also provides an island and a boat to the ocean, and so makes it less dreadful Our text is found in K4 5 B: 3 Da Dn D2-3

45 <sup>a</sup>) जामदग्न्येन रामेण or वीतेण, read by B D S generally, seems to have been originally a simple mistake of case-attraction. When it was noticed that thereby the stanza makes no reference to Bhīṣma, the MSS that fell into that blunder added 61*

50 <sup>c</sup>) परामित्ते (K4 5 B1-3) in the old Vedic sense of 'thrown aside', rendered hors de combat. Cf 5 47 18<sup>d</sup> The variant परिसित्ते (Ś1 Ko-2), like परामित्ते (Da Dn D1 4 5 7 8), seems to be an evident mistake

53-54 As to the repetition (with var) in Da1 Dn and D4 of these two stanzas after 23, the transp of st 39-52 and 24-38 in Ś1 Ko-3 5 D2 7, and the om of 24-38 in K4 together with the common explanation of all these accidents in text-transmission of "Mahābhārata Text-Transmission Problem No 1" in the Annals, B O R I, Vol. xxv, pp 82 87 Of the 23 N MSS of our Crit App, 14 exhibit the effect of this text-transmission accident, one in Śāradā script, one in Bengali, five in Kashmirian Devanāgarī, and seven in Devanāgarī proper The nine MSS that stand outside this accident are, four of them, in Bengali characters and five in Devanāgarī characters They show considerable affinity to the N recension and are only on occasions contaminated with the S recension, the present being perhaps an instance in point The S recension does not show any trace of the influence of the three-fold transmission-accident described in the paper under reference

16

1 <sup>d</sup>) आसक्तु (K5 B3 Da Dn D1 3 5 8) in the causal sense of आसक्तयितुन्

4 निकृतिप्रज्ञ (Ś1 Ko-2 M4) seems to be due to case-attraction It is of course possible to take निकृतिप्रज्ञै as सनिकृतिप्रज्ञै with Cc

7-11 It is only after this formal invocation of Samjaya to Vyāsa that his regular narration of war events begins For the nature of Samjaya's Eye Divine, its modus operandi, and other connected problems, cf Annals B O R I, Vol xxvii pp 310-331

9 व्युत्थिनोत्पत्ति, 'any abnormal occurrence'

12-20 These words of दुर्वाधन, uttered after the व्यूह arrangement was complete, do not fit in with the beginning of st 21 Hence, probably, the device to begin a new adhyāya, which Ś1 Ko 1 T G do not accept The शिखाण्ड motif is here introduced

( see Crit App for 25 ) make the confusion worse confounded by repeating the त्राह्मि line ( 27<sup>cd</sup> ) also after 25<sup>cd</sup> It is very doubtful if the old Pāṇḍā king had any brothers taking part in the war — <sup>b</sup> ) We could have also read the text as राजा द्रुपदी*, only, in that case, हि remains without any special meaning or purpose

28 After the stanza, we have a characteristic Devanāgarī ( Ds ) addition, 74* Compare the D1 additions of 159* after 6 48 18<sup>cd</sup>, of 184* after 6 51 35, and of 451* after 6 108 14

37 <sup>cd</sup> ) Quoted in the Adbhutasāgara, p 702

39 <sup>a</sup> ) The reading सजिहानेपु ( Ko 14 ) will not suit, as the troops had already got out of their beds

20

2 <sup>a</sup> ) मेव ( K1 B Dn1 ) is accepted by Cn who remarks मेव पुष्कल यथा स्यात्तथा ब्रूहि । मेवमिति भीवते पुष्कलस्य धनि बाहुलकादुपधाहस्वे ततो गुणे रूपम् । गौडान्तिवह पाठान्तर कल्पयन्ति—सर्वमेतद्ब्रूहि मे त्व यथायतिनि All our Bengali MSS, however, read मेवम्

4 <sup>a</sup> ) ब्रूही ( K1 B D1 3 6 ) Vedic for ब्रूह्यौ ( as in K1 Dn D1 3 ) — <sup>c</sup> ) सृष्टे ( K1 B Da Dn1 [ orig ] n1 D1 4-3 ), ' bent upon ' gives better sense than ब्रूहे, of 15<sup>b</sup>, also 6 16 38<sup>a</sup>

6 <sup>a</sup> ) The line is in reply to 2<sup>a</sup>, which inquires as to the position of सोम, सूर्य and वायु In the reply, the first ( शुक्र = सोम ) and the last are said to back the Pāṇḍavas, but not the Sun, which, in the mornings, dazzled their eyes Of 6 4 22

10 <sup>b</sup> ) Śala and Bhūriśravas ( 12<sup>b</sup> ) were two brothers, the sons of Somadatta, the Bāhlika king Since Bhūriśravas was stationed in the centre with a part of the Bāhlika army, and there was only an पक्वदेश of the Bāhlika army with Śala in the front

11 The emendation *प्रयश is suggested by the K1 reading प्रयश, and seems to be the only way of explaining the majority variant प्रायश ( prob due to defective pronouncing or hearing ), and the T1 G1 reading प्रथित ( prob an interlineal gloss )

leot diff for which the majority of MSS read उत्तरार्ध or उत्तरेऽर्धम्

21

8 <sup>c</sup> ) तम् ( which has a better support of MSS ) rather looks ahead, by anticipation, to अर्थ ( in 9<sup>a</sup> ), or even to धर्म ( in 11<sup>d</sup> ), than to कारण in the preceding line

10 <sup>b</sup> ) O J reads जयन्ति विजिगीषव

22

[ N B K1 om chapter 22, D1 writes ( acc m ) st 5-16, the orig writer having written st 17 continuous with st 5 As P C Roy observes ( p 69n ) " Sanjaya, in each new section, assigns new positions to almost every one of the noted combatants of both sides " The only purpose served by this chapter is to initiate the conversation between Kṛṣṇa and Arjuna, which was the needful preliminary for the interpolated Durgāstotra chapter ( Appendix I, No 1 ) Nevertheless, the evidence of the solitary MS K1, which again is fragmentary and composite, was not sufficient to justify the tempting omission of the present chapter from the critically constituted text ]

2 <sup>a</sup> ) All the MSS except S1 Ko-2 4 Da D1 1 ( M1-3 3 om ) give the imperative कुरुत, which can yield sense only if st 2 is meant as युधिष्ठिर's words of command to the army.

5 Cf E W Hopkins The Social and Military Position of the Ruling Caste in Ancient India, p 247

9 <sup>c</sup> ) अग्नि ( K1 B D1 3 4-3, S1 om ) for अग्निम् is an archaic form of the word ( cf RV 1 48 13, 8 44 17, etc )

13 <sup>b</sup> ) पक्वता इवोद्गा ( S1 Ko-2 only ) The alternatives are द्विपा, गा, गजा, readily substituted for the unfamiliar, and doubtless original, उद्गा 15 <sup>a</sup> ) The fact of Bhīṣma having performed 30 ( or 300 ) अश्वमेध is not known from other parts of the epic The D1 variant is alive to the incongruity.

1 <sup>a</sup>) The Kashmir reading सर्वक्षत्रमगमे is not given by Ś1 Ko. If not a cheap alliteration, it can have been intended to make a passing allusion to the Ksatras enumerated in 6 10 37-68 as having foregathered on the battlefield — <sup>a</sup>) K7 किमु कुर्वन्ति (for विमकुर्वन्) The present tense would imply that the account of the battle is to be described to Dhrtarāstra in his chamber while the actual fighting is going on on the battlefield. This could be possible by reason of Sage Vyāsa's boon to Saṁjaya (6 2 9ff, cf BG 18 75), but there is evidence to prove that Saṁjaya went to Kuruksetra to witness the battle, returned, normally, after the close of the day's fighting and other events, narrated the same to Dhrtarāstra, and went back next morning before the fighting was resumed. Saṁjaya was endowed (6 16 9) with power to fly through the air. The Past is the prevailing tense of narration. On this point, cf "Saṁjaya's Eye Divine," Annals, BORI, Vol xxvii p 310-331.

3 <sup>a</sup>) K8 alone पश्य त्वा (for पश्येतां), probably a scribal error. It is true that the Pāṇḍava army was farther away from Duryodhana than his own army, but in speaking of the former, Duryodhana is found using the words अत्र and इदं.

5 <sup>b</sup>) K7 काशीराजश्च. In the case of Proper Names, the liberty to shorten vowels (cf कुन्तिभोज below, or माद्रिचन्द्रः Sabhā, Cal ed 1116) is conceded by Pāṇini 6 3 63. Only, it so happens, that both काशि and कुन्ति (in short इ) are often used, as well as the forms in long ई, the latter being more frequent — <sup>c</sup>) Puruṣit is the personal name and Kuntibhoja his family name. They are not two persons. — It is probably a sheer accident that the warriors enumerated on the Pāṇḍava side (including Bhīma and Arjuna) make up the sacrosanct number eighteen. D8 adds Nakula and Sahadeva to the list in case Bhīma and Arjuna (mentioned as upamānas) are omitted. But how to account for the omission of Dhṛṣṭadyumna, not to speak of Yudhiṣṭhira?

7 <sup>c</sup>) For the Kashmirian variant नायकान्, cf Introduction, p lxxix. Another method of improving the syntax is furnished by 86*

8 <sup>a</sup>) K8 also reads कृपः शून्यो जयद्रथः — <sup>a</sup>)

Somadatta is the father's name, from which Saumadatti is a patronymic for the warrior whose personal name was Bhūriśravas. — The Dublin MS of the Bhagavadgītā [ Transactions, Royal Irish Academy, vol xxiv (1858) ] reads जयद्रथ with B G1 Cn.

9 <sup>a</sup>) If the Kash reading नाना (for सर्वे) is a cheap attempt at alliteration, the D8 variant नानाशास्त्रः is still cheaper and worse.

10 <sup>a</sup>) K8 आसाक (for असाक) — The Ś8 Cb reading भीमाभिरक्षित in 10<sup>b</sup> and भीमाभिरक्षित in 10<sup>d</sup> need not be a mistake. According to that reading असाक is to go with अपर्याप्त in the sense of 'not adequate, not a match for', while पर्याप्त can connote just the opposite. — With the current reading, अपर्याप्त would mean 'limitless' (and पर्याप्त, 'circumscribed'), if Duryodhana is assumed at this stage to be confident of victory. If, however, he had cause to be nervous, अपर्याप्त would mean 'inadequate'. That Duryodhana was confident of victory would follow from 5 54 18<sup>c</sup>-19<sup>d</sup>, 53 6 15 12-13.

11 K8 D10 यथाभाग व्यवस्थिता (for 'भागमवस्थिता')

12 Before 12, K8 D10 ins सजय उवाच, which is uncalled for, since no MS (and not even the Madras edition) reads दुर्योधन उवाच before 3. — <sup>c</sup>) K8 निनद्य (for विनद्य).

15-18 It is a curious coincidence that the warriors on the Pāṇḍava side, named as having blown the conch, again make up the sacrosanct number eighteen. — The O-J paraphrase suggests that the reading there was सात्यकिश्च घटोत्कचः (for सात्यकिश्चापराजितः).

18 <sup>ab</sup>) The Ś1-3 Ko-2 D8 C7 reading is a mere paraphrase. K8 makes a mess of it all by reading पाञ्चालाश्च महेष्वासा द्रौपदेयाश्च सजया.

19 <sup>b</sup>) K8 व्यदारयत्. The Ś1 K1 D8 reading विदारयत् could have been accepted as augmentless Imperf, but for the similarity of त् and न् in the Śāradā. — <sup>a</sup>) K8 D1 a reading is an attempt to give a finite verb on the assumption that only pres part was read in 19<sup>b</sup>.

20 <sup>c</sup>) A solitary Grantha MS, not included in the Crit App, reads 'मघाते (for 'सपाते).

21 <sup>cd</sup>) Before 21<sup>cd</sup>, there is no real need for the reference अजुन उवाच. Many good MSS (such as Si १ १-३ Ko १ ३ ६ Da Dn1 D1 ३ ३ ३ T1 G1 M1 ३-३) do not give it. As a consequence of this, the reference सजय उवाच before 24 ought also to have been omitted. Practically all MSS, however, give it. On the strength of the evidence at 21<sup>cd</sup>, we felt ourselves justified in omitting the ref before 24.

24 <sup>b</sup>) K- (before corr) धीमता (for भान)

28 <sup>a</sup>) K1 परमाविष्टो (for परयाविष्टो) — <sup>b</sup>) Here, as well as in BG 2 1<sup>c</sup> and 2 10<sup>d</sup>, the Kashmir cum-Bengali MSS generally read सीदमानोऽर्जुनोऽपि Sidamāna suggests a more acute state of distress than what is implied in विपीडन — <sup>cd</sup>) For the reference अर्जुन उवाच before 28<sup>cd</sup>, cf. note on 21<sup>cd</sup> above. K1 दृष्ट्वैव सजन (in 28<sup>c</sup>) — The singular forms म, न्वजन etc. given by  $\tilde{N}_1$  and S and several D MSS are also found in the O-J, while S K (with a few exceptions) and B favour the plural forms.

31 <sup>c</sup>) K1 and O-J read with T1 G1.

32 <sup>d</sup>) D10 च (for वा)

33 <sup>d</sup>) As to the Kash variant सुदुःखज्ञान्, cf. Introduction, p. lxxx.

34 <sup>d</sup>) K1 शाला, D1 श्याला. Regarding the spelling of the word, cf.  $\text{ॐ Gn}$  श्यालग्नो दन्त्यादि- 'विजामातुर्गन् वा वा श्यालात्' इति मन्त्रवार्ता (Rv 1 109 2)। 'श्यालानानावपनीनि वा। श्याला नान्ते। स्य शूर्पं स्यते' इति शान्क (Nir 6 9)।  $\text{ॐ}$ 35 <sup>d</sup>) किमु for किमु is a good reading, but is not vouched for beyond the few MSS named.

37 <sup>b</sup>) Manuscript evidence seems clearly to favour our reading स्वान्ववान् in place of स्व. The reading conveys the implication that Arjuna would not have been averse to fighting, if it had been a question of killing just the Dhārtarāstras, and not the elders and preceptors also. But in the fight, the bāndhavas cannot be so singled out. The reading स्वान्ववान् would place the emphasis on the fact that the Dhārtarāstras, despite their wickedness, are our own relatives. — <sup>c</sup>) Many MSS giving the plural forms in 28<sup>cd</sup> give the sing. सजन here.

38 <sup>c</sup>) D10 पाय (for दोष)

44 <sup>d</sup>) K1 D10 read, along with K1-2  $\tilde{N}_1$  S and a few D MSS, 'शुश्रुम' for the grammatically regular 'शुश्रुम', which is invariably given by  $\tilde{S}$  B and important K D manuscripts. The form 'शुश्रुम' is formed on the analogy of शृणुम, being a case of the substitution of primary for secondary endings. In the Crit. Ed., Ādiparvan 53 1 and 196 1, and Virāta 46 8, the form 'शुश्रुम' is accepted with a wavy line. Both शुश्रुम and शुश्रुम are attested in the pre-epic literature. शुश्रुम in Kena Up 1 3, शुश्रुम in Maitri Up 1 2. So, where MSS evidence favours the acceptance of the irregular शुश्रुम, the wavy line should be dispensed with, as has been done in Ādi 89 44 and 156 7. The agreement of the Śāradā and the Bengali should justify our acceptance of the regular 'शुश्रुम' with a wavy line.

46 <sup>d</sup>) O-J reads क्षेमकर (for क्षेमतर)

47 As to the ref मन्त्रय उवाच, ins before 47 by practically all MSS, cf. our note on 21<sup>cd</sup> above — K1 is alone in proposing transp. of 47<sup>b</sup> and 47<sup>d</sup>, probably in an attempt to follow the natural sequence of the actions.

Colophon — Adhy name K1 सैन्यदर्शन, D1 अर्जुनविपाद्योग

24 [ BG 2 ]

1 <sup>c</sup>) For the v l, cf. note to BG 1 28<sup>b</sup> above.

2 <sup>cd</sup>) K1 स्वा (for स्वा) D10 (m as in text) इदविषये (for इद विषये)

5 <sup>c</sup>) For the Kash reading, cf. Introduction, p. lxxxii. Just as महानुभावान् in 5<sup>a</sup> gives the reason why the elders-and-preceptors should not be killed, the contrasted अर्थकामान् in 5<sup>c</sup> would give the reason to justify their killing, assuming that अर्थ is taken to mean mere wealth and worldly possessions. In that case, however, the last pāda would not be right. Hence the Kashmirian change to अर्थकाम. The alleged difficulty vanishes if अर्थ is interpreted as suggested. Madhusūdana reads हिमहानुभावान् as one word. हिमहा = सूर्य — <sup>d</sup>) K1 मुजीम (for मुञ्जीय)

6 <sup>b</sup>) The orig.  $\tilde{N}_1$  reading उन (for यदि) involves a hiatus and would have been preferable just on that account, but no other MS supports it — <sup>d</sup>) D<sub>10</sub> m प्राप्नुवे (for प्रमुखे) would be historically accurate, as the Kauravas had taken up a position 'to the east' of the Pāṇḍava army, i.e., with their faces towards the west. The reading प्रमुखे or न प्रमुखे would mean 'here in front of us', but as it can also denote 'in our front ranks', the D<sub>2</sub> or D<sub>10</sub> m readings may have been intended to remove all doubt in the matter.

7 <sup>b</sup>) K<sub>8</sub> D<sub>9</sub> 10 त्वा (for त्वा) The commentators Ānandagiri, Madhusūdana and Sadānanda (the author of Cu) cite त्वा and gloss it by त्वा, showing clearly what their reading is — Jacobi (ZDMG, 72 [1918], pp. 323 ff) considered stanzas 7-8 as later interpolations, because they introduce the traditional attitude of the pupil, which was regarded as the sine qua non for preceptorial instruction. This is just as subjective as the viewpoint of Garbe, who at least attempted, as a rule, to give some objective reasons.

8 <sup>b</sup>) The Kash reading य (involving a personal reference to Kṛṣṇa) is not supported by the best Kashmir MSS — <sup>c</sup>) K<sub>7</sub> भूमौ च सापक्षम् (for भूनावमपक्षम्)

9 <sup>b</sup>) K<sub>8</sub> D<sub>9</sub> परतप, D<sub>10</sub> प्रतापवान् (for परतप) The MSS are about equally divided between परतप and *तप, the latter being intrinsically superior. परतप is not, however, likely to be changed to *तप in so many independent MSS.

10 <sup>d</sup>) Cf. note to BG 1.28<sup>b</sup>

11 Regarding the extra stanza (87*) found in the Ś and a few K MSS, of Introduction, p. LXXXIII — <sup>a</sup>) For the Kash reading of this line, of Introduction, p. LXXXII — It may be worth noting that the oldest Mbh commentator Devabodha (a fragment of whose comm. on the BG will be found on pp. 11-14 of our edition of Devabodha's comm. on the Bhīṣma) cites अन्वशोच

12 <sup>a</sup>) K<sub>7</sub> reads न त्वेनाह with D<sub>9</sub>

13 <sup>a</sup>) K<sub>7</sub> देहातर (for देहान्तर-)

15 <sup>b</sup>) K<sub>8</sub> पुनर्पम (for *म)

18 <sup>b</sup>) O-J reads नित्यप्रोक्ता (for नित्यस्योक्ता) — <sup>c</sup>) The Kash reading विनाशिन (for अनाशिन),

which is also given in the O-J, is to be construed with देहा, but it involves tautology with अन्तवन्त

19 <sup>c</sup>) O-J reads नाभिजानीतां (for न विजानीत)

20 <sup>b</sup>) C<sub>8</sub> supplies an अ before भविता because the commentator, quite unnecessarily, took the initial न of the second line with the verb त्रियते in the first line.

21 <sup>d</sup>) For the Kash reading हन्यते हन्ति वा कथम् (evidently influenced by 19<sup>d</sup>), of Introduction, p. LXXXII

23 <sup>c</sup>) K<sub>7</sub> जीवयन्त्यापो (for क्लेदय*)

24 <sup>c</sup>) The v l सततग (for सर्वगत*) seems at first sight to be a scribal mistake, possibly influenced by the marg. paraphrase for मान्त* (23<sup>d</sup>) found in some MSS. But the Viṣṇusmṛti, in its corresponding passage (largely imitative of the BG), also reads सततग. Apparently some persons who maintained that the jīva or the individual soul was atomic in size and not omnipresent, have deliberately made the change. Cf., in this connection, the observations of the commentary on Cr, the Tātparyacandrikā ❀ नात्र बहुश्रुत्यादिविरुद्ध जीवविभुत्व सर्वगतशब्देनोच्यते, किंतु अनुप्रवेशविषययोग्यता । जीवस्याणुत्वेऽपि क्रमेण नानाशरीरसंबन्धात्मवर्गतत्वोक्ति । ❀ 28 <sup>d</sup>) K<sub>8</sub> परिवेदना (for *देवना) The v l seems to be no more than a scribal error. Yet in the corresponding passage, even the Viṣṇusmṛti (20.46) reads परिवेदना.

31 <sup>a</sup>) The O-J reads स्वधर्ममेव and विकल्पितुम्, thereby considerably improving the sense.

32 <sup>c</sup>) The Ś<sub>1</sub> s reading सुकृतात् (for सुखिन*), possibly gives a better sense, but the v l is not adequately supported.

33 <sup>a</sup>) K<sub>7</sub> D<sub>10</sub> त्व धर्ममिम, K<sub>8</sub> D<sub>9</sub> त्व धर्ममिम (with the generality of the S recension)

35 <sup>b</sup>) D<sub>10</sub> मन्यते (for मस्यन्ते) — <sup>c</sup>) To avoid the awkwardness of the hanging relative clause, Schlegel and Lassen actually proposed to read एषा, which is a v l already found in several MSS. The scholars mentioned even sought to emend 34<sup>c</sup> into एषा च त्वमभिमतोऽभूरायास्यसि लाघवम् । 37 <sup>a</sup>) D<sub>9</sub> 10 प्राप्स्यमे (for प्राप्स्यमि) — <sup>b</sup>) The v l सुव is evidently for securing alliteration.

38 <sup>a</sup>) The variant युध्यस् can convey the sense of fighting for its own sake

38-39 That O-J has not at all understood the difference between the Sāṃkhya and the Yoga view-points follows from the tame paraphrase that it offers "Therefore get ready, be resolved to the work of fighting, for victory and defeat, they are gain equally Your mind has approached to Sāṃkhya and Yoga" The O-J at once leaps after this to st 41

40 <sup>a</sup>) The Kash v l [अ]निक्रमनाश (for [अ]भि<sup>a</sup>) will have to be understood as अनिक्रमे or अतिक्रमेण नाश<sup>a</sup>, implying that, in Yoga buddhi, rules can be transgressed with impunity<sup>a</sup>

42 <sup>b</sup>) D<sub>9</sub> 10 read विपश्चित with K<sub>1</sub>

43 <sup>b</sup>) For the Kash reading, cf Introduction, p LXXX

45 <sup>a</sup>) Schrader gives the v l त्रैगुण्यविचया (for 'विषया) None of the available MSS record it He seems to have misread sinvant as cinvant in the Cg on the passage (cf Kash Rec, p 43),

48 The extra stanza (88*) found after 48 is probably an echo from the Brāhmaṇa-vyādha-samvāda in the Āraṇyakaparvan 203 43 It rather disturbs the continuity of the topic Cb does not give the stanza

50 <sup>a</sup>) The reading जहातीमे उमे is an attempt to secure a legitimate hiatus in place of the irregular जहातीह उमे — <sup>a</sup>) कर्म सकौशलम् is noted on the collation sheets as a variant of K<sub>1</sub>, but it is due to the failure of the collator to detect the उकार below स which is plainly visible in the photo The v l gives a good reading all the same

51 <sup>a</sup>) D<sub>10</sub> reads जन्मकर्मविनिमुक्ता This reading, as well as, to a less extent, कर्मबन्धविनिमुक्ता found in some Śāradā and K MSS, would seem somewhat to favour the Saṃnyāsa interpretation of the passage

53 <sup>a</sup>) K<sub>8</sub> धुनिर्विप्रतिपन्ना ने, D<sub>10</sub> धुतिविप्रतिपन्नानाम् — <sup>b</sup>) O-J निश्चिता with S<sub>1</sub> ३- — <sup>c</sup>) O J यमादौ (for समाधौ)

54 <sup>a</sup>) Several Śāradā and K MSS, in the next few stanzas, read स्थिर<sup>a</sup> for स्थिर, probably due to the similarity of the Śāradā त with र — <sup>a</sup>)

K<sub>8</sub> आमीलिक (for आसीत)

55 <sup>a</sup>) O J यदा महरते कामान्, prob influenced by 58<sup>a</sup> — <sup>b</sup>) Co is alone in reading मनोहरान् (for मनो गान्), which it explains by मनस्यतिप्रतिष्ठान — <sup>a</sup>) O-J म उच्यते (for तदोच्यते)

56 <sup>b</sup>) K<sub>8</sub> सुतेपु, O-Jp सुते तु (for सुतेपु)

59 After 59, O-J ins an extra stanza not found in any of our MSS, for which cf Introduction, p xiv

60 <sup>a</sup>) For the Kash variant यत्तस्यापि हि, cf Introduction, p LXXVIII

61 <sup>b</sup>) For the Kash variant तत्पर, cf Introduction, p LXXX 63 <sup>a</sup>) O-J, like D<sub>2</sub> Cm r, विनश्यति (for प्रणश्यति)

64 <sup>a</sup>) D<sub>10</sub> विमुक्तैस्तु (for विमुक्तैस्तु) — <sup>a</sup>) प्रमाद-मभिगच्छति

65 <sup>a</sup>) K<sub>7</sub> 8 D<sub>9</sub> 10 पर्यवतिष्ठति, as in N<sub>1</sub> and a few Devanāgarī and most Southern MSS

69 <sup>a</sup>) D<sub>10</sub> O J जागति (for जाग्रति), prob under the influence of 69<sup>b</sup>

72 Ś<sub>1</sub> D<sub>3</sub> alone read, under the influence of the voc पार्य, विमुह्यति in the second pāda and ऋच्छमि in the fourth pāda.

Colophon — Adhy name D<sub>9</sub> माख्ययोग

25 [ BG 3 ]

2 <sup>a</sup>) Most MSS (except the Nepali-Bengali group) read व्यामिश्रेणैव, the reading of Ca k l r, while Cm v are silent, and Cb c missing The Amṛtataranginī of Parasottama observes ॐ भगवदात्म्यं तु व्यामिश्रं न भवति, परं तु जीवैर्न मुच्यत इति ज्ञेत्यनन श्रुतिना । मोहयमीत्यपि भगवत्प्रतिपत्तिरिति मोहोऽनुचित इति श्रुतिना । ॐ The second point is not as valid as the first, and one श्व would be quite sufficient

3 <sup>a</sup>) K<sub>7</sub> विविधा (for द्विविधा) S<sub>1</sub> is alone in reading कर्मिणाम् (for योनिनाम्) — <sup>a</sup>) K<sub>7</sub> स-याना with Ś<sub>1</sub> — <sup>a</sup>) MSS almost unanimously read कर्मयोगेन here as well as in BG 13 24<sup>a</sup> By Pāṇini 8 4 11, an option as regards the change of 'न to 'ण would have been possible, as the 'न was a case ending, but acc to 8 4 13, the option is disallowed by the presence of a guttural in the last member of the compound

9 <sup>a</sup>) K<sub>7</sub> ह्य (for [s]न्यत्र) This would make the Yajña a source of bondage, which could not have been intended

12 <sup>a</sup>) The N<sub>1</sub> reading अप्रदायेभ्यो, also found in a few other MSS, and prob due to scribal error, can nevertheless yield good sense. The word इभ्य means an opulent householder. C<sub>1</sub>, although citing अप्रदायेभ्यो, explains अप्रदायेभ्य

13 <sup>a</sup>) For the idea, of Manu 3 118 — <sup>c</sup>) The use of √भुज् in Ātm is permitted not only when the root means 'eating', but also when it means upabhoga in general. So there is no conflict with Pāṇini 1 3 66, as suggested by Holtzmann, Das Mahābhārata, Band 2, p 165 — <sup>d</sup>) O-J reads चरन्ति for पचन्ति, thereby making it a more general statement

15 <sup>a</sup>) The Ko reading can yield the same sense as the text, if कर्मोद्भव is understood as कर्मण उद्भव यस्मात् — <sup>b</sup>) K<sub>8</sub> ब्रह्माक्षरसमुद्भव, apparently understanding ब्रह्मा as masculine 19 The Śs transfer of st 19 after st 24 (which was possibly endorsed by Cg) has this advantage that it does not make the apparent contrast between 17<sup>d</sup> and 19<sup>b</sup> so glaring by their juxtaposition. St 19 and 25 go well together. The transp is, however, without any other support — <sup>d</sup>) K<sub>7</sub> पूरुष, K<sub>8</sub> पौरुष (for पूरुष)

22 <sup>a</sup>) The Kash variant प्रवर्तेय means only that Kṛṣṇa takes up activity, not that he remains active all along, which the current text says, and which is in agreement with 23<sup>a</sup>. Śs Cb, however, introduce √प्रवर्त् in 23<sup>a</sup>

23 <sup>a</sup>) K<sub>8</sub> वर्तेय (for वर्तेय) — <sup>c</sup>) The Kash [अ]नुवर्तेयन् (for 'वर्तन्ते') is meant to improve the syntax. The sentence 23<sup>a</sup> is to be understood as parenthetical, वर्तेय in 23<sup>a</sup> going with उत्पीदेयुः in 24<sup>a</sup>, and कुर्वी in 24<sup>b</sup> with स्या and उपहृत्या in 24<sup>a</sup>

27 <sup>a</sup>) D<sub>8</sub> प्राकृते (for प्रकृते), which is read by another Telugu MS also, while a Malayalam variant reported by Garrett reads प्रकृत्या — <sup>b</sup>)

नाश is an acceptable Kash variant, not supported by non-K sources

28 <sup>a</sup>) K<sub>7</sub>, like K<sub>0</sub>, reading मज्जने (for मज्जने), due to similarity of म and न in the Śāradā script of the 1 l in 29<sup>b</sup>

29 <sup>a</sup>) A pair of curious but significant variants given by an undated Devanāgarī MS from Adyar (42 of the collation sheets) is गृह्यविद् and गृह्यविद्

32 <sup>a</sup>) The Ke Cb k reading is a gratuitous attempt at improving the alliteration effect

34 <sup>a</sup>) D<sub>8</sub> (before corr) इन्द्रियम्येन्द्रियाभ्येभ्यो

35 <sup>a</sup>) The Kash √ l परधर्मोत्पादयि is intended to mean परधर्मेण (1 e परधर्म स्वीकृत्य) उत्पादय, but normally it can signify परधर्मस्य उत्पादय (= उत्कर्षय). The O-Jp reading स्वधर्मो for 'धर्मो' is evidently influenced by 35<sup>c</sup>.

36 <sup>b</sup>) K<sub>8</sub> पौरुष (for पूरुष)

37 For the Kash addition (89<sup>a</sup>), cf Introduction, p LXXXVIII. Ke makes stanza 36 with 89<sup>a</sup> lines 1-2 one continuous question of Arjuna, but 89<sup>a</sup> lines 1-2 presuppose Kṛṣṇa's reply to st 36 as given in st 37. The Tātparyacandrikā on Cr apud BG 11 27 quotes the five stanzas included in 89<sup>a</sup> and remarks एते श्लोका सन्ति न वनि देवो जानाति। पूर्वव्याख्यादुभिरनुदाहृतत्वा दध्ययनप्रसिद्धमावाश भाष्यकारैरनाहृता । न च गीताशास्त्रस्य श्लोकसंख्या व्यासादिभिरक्ता । अत्रानीनास्त्वविश्वसनीया । — The following variants are found in the stanzas as there quoted — (L 1) जैष (for जैव) — (L 4) सुव तत्र (for सुवतत्र) — (L 8) मोहयश्च (for मोहयस्तु) — (L 10) रज प्रवर्तितो मोहान (for the prior half)

41 <sup>a</sup>) The Kash variant with a long ह्री (प्रजह्रीहि being an optional form for प्रजहिहि) makes the usual प्रजहि ध्येन word separation impossible. The separation is suggested by 43<sup>c</sup>, but involves the tautology of having तस्मात् and हि in the same sentence

Colophon — Adhy name D<sub>8</sub> कर्मयोग

26 [ BG 4 ]

1 <sup>a</sup>) K<sub>7</sub> वैवस्वत (for विवस्वते) The Kash variant एव (for इम) is probably due to eye-wandering from the beginning of st 1 to that of st 2

2 <sup>a</sup>) The Kash. √ l परपराख्यातम् is the instance of a marg paraphrase ousting the orig text

4 <sup>a</sup>) Ds ( before corr as in text ) अवर ( for अन )

5 <sup>c</sup>) The O-J variant न तानि वेभि मवाणि would mean a confession by Kṛṣṇa of his own parvascience<sup>1</sup>

7 <sup>a</sup>) K<sub>1</sub> भर्माया ग्लानि is an impossible variant — <sup>d</sup>) The philosophical variant [अ]नाश ( for [आ] तान ) seems to be due to the commentaries C<sub>2</sub> k

8 <sup>b</sup>) O-J reads विनाशाय दुःखनाना

10 <sup>b</sup>) The Kash variant मयनाशया ( perhaps influenced by BG 18 56<sup>b</sup> ) seems to be of the nature of a superlinear gloss onsting the orig text — <sup>d</sup>) K<sub>1</sub> मद्भावनानागता does not commit itself to the Advaita position, as does the current text मद्भावनानागता

13 <sup>a</sup>) The grammatically incorrect reading चातु ईता of Ds has at least this merit that it does not involve a definite decision on the question as to whether the termination च्छु at the end of the word चातुर्ष्य is स्वाये ( according to the Kāśikā ), or is not स्वाय ( acc to Patañjali, disregarding the गानक interpretation of the Bhāṣya ) Interpreting चातुर्ष्य as चत्वारो रता ( and not चतुर्णां वाना कर्म ) means that, regarding the wording of the Vārtika on Pāṇini 5 1 124, we are—contrary to established practice—following the later Kāśikā in preference to the ancient Patañjali Kaivāta on the passage ( Pāṇini 5 1 124 ) defends the Kāśikā, but not quite convincingly I have discussed the passage in a paper contributed to Prof. M Hiriyanna Commemoration Volume

18 <sup>a</sup>) O-J reads as S<sub>1</sub>-s s Ks C<sub>2</sub> k — <sup>c</sup>) O-J reads मनुष्याणा ( for मनुष्येषु ) — <sup>d</sup>) The B<sub>1</sub> variant मनुष्यकर्मसु may also have been मनुष्यकर्मसुत्, as there is a blank space after सु in the orig MS Both the variants yield good sense

19 <sup>b</sup>) The K<sub>0</sub> reading is peculiar to that MS

20 <sup>a</sup>) D<sub>10</sub> न्यक्त ( for त्यक्त्वा ) — <sup>b</sup>) D<sub>0</sub> gives the variant निगमय , which avoids the possibility of conflicting interpretations occasioned by the current निगमय

22 <sup>d</sup>) Ks निवाच्यते ( for निवच्यते )

23 <sup>a</sup>) Thomson conjectured युक्तस्य for सुक्तस्य, which is found in N<sub>1</sub> ( marg sec m ) — <sup>c</sup>) Note worthy is the S<sub>1</sub> variant ज्ञानाधारमन , which may have been influenced by 23<sup>b</sup>

26 Ks, like S<sub>1</sub> K<sub>2</sub>, om ( hapl ) 26<sup>cd</sup>

31 <sup>a</sup>) K<sub>1</sub> यगसृष्टा<sup>1</sup>

33 <sup>c</sup>) Garrett reports a Malayalam variant [अ]खिले ( for [अ]खिल ), which avoids the tautology of सर्व and अखिल

34 <sup>b</sup>) O-J reads मेधया ( for मेवया )

16 <sup>d</sup>) तत्पर is to be understood as two words तत् परम्

17 The extra stanza ( 90* ) found in some Kash MSS is of the nature of another illustration for the statement in st 10-11, suggested by the simile आदित्यवत् in 16<sup>c</sup> Schrader concedes that the stanza may have been a later addition Ksemendra ( Bhāratamañjarī, p 396, st 87 ) knows this added verse, which he gives as under making this addition read 22<sup>d</sup> as यत् सर्वं प्रतिष्ठितम् is of the same nature as the extra passage (99*)

given by Ds alone, both being prob verses familiar to some reader-scribe and jotted down in the margin, and thence transported on to the text

7 <sup>b</sup>) Ks मामिकान् (for मामिकाम्)

8 <sup>a</sup>) As Schlegel pointed out, a distinction is intended between the Lord's relation to the Prakṛti, when it is a question of the birth of an Avatāra, and when there is to be the birth of ordinary created beings, and the BG employs in 4 6<sup>c</sup> and 9 8<sup>a</sup> two different words to express that relation
Śi ignores this intended difference and repeats
here the earlier pāda

11 <sup>d</sup>) For the Kash variant, cf Introduction,

 9 <sup>d</sup>) For the Kash variant, of Introduction, p lxxix 16 <sup>b</sup>) For the Kash variant, of Introduction, p lxxix. It is curious to note that त्विवा ह्यात्मविभूतय has become a fixed phrase to be used both as nominative as well as accusative. For instance, in the Saṅkharagītā (Viṣṇudharmottara, I. 52-65), we read (adhy 56. st 1)

तस्य देवातिवस्य विष्णोर्मितनेजस ।

त्वत्तोऽहं श्रुतुमिच्छामि त्विवा ह्यात्मविभूतय ॥

- 19 <sup>b</sup>) See 16<sup>b</sup> above
 21 <sup>b</sup>) O-J अहमशुमान् (for रविरशु*) That अशुमान् is the name of a particular रवि has not been seen by the author of this supposed emendation
 24 <sup>c</sup>) The Kash variant सेनान्यामप्यह is merely intended to give the grammatically correct gen plu form in place of the current सेनानीनाम्
 27 <sup>c</sup>) पेरुवण (instead of पेरुवत्) is the form generally preferred by Kash and Nepali MSS, but not invariably so. Of the variants of 6 13 33<sup>d</sup> O-J also reads पेरुवणो
 28 <sup>a</sup>) O J वज्रो (for वज्र) The word is both masc and neut — <sup>c</sup>) For the Kash variant, of Introduction, p lxxix 29 <sup>d</sup>) The Ś1 + Ds variant मयमिनाम् makes it quite clear that यम is not = मृत्यु (mentioned in 34<sup>a</sup>), but is one of the eight योगाहस

- 32 <sup>a</sup>) For the variant न्यगायान, of 5 19<sup>a</sup> — <sup>c</sup>) Ks अध्यात्ममसि विधानां

तेन श्री वीरिर्निश्चयं ह्यन्याग सौमग भग ।

वीर्य विनिष्ठा विमान यत्र यत्र स भेदशक ॥

The BG enumerates only such qualities of the womankind as testify to their divine inheritance

- 35 For the extra stanza (101*) after 35, of Introduction, p xc. Schrader notes (Kash Rec, p 11) that a Dublin MS reported by Denis Crofton (Transactions, Royal Irish Academy [1858] vol xxiv) gives the extra verse as follows

ओषधीना तवा चामि धातूनाममि सञ्जनन ।

सर्वेषां वृत्तानानां भोऽहं पाण्डुनन्दन ॥

 4 <sup>c</sup>) The Kash MSS generally read, here and in BG 11 9<sup>b</sup>, and 18 75<sup>c</sup>, 78<sup>a</sup>, योगेश्वर in place of योगेश्वर, the latter expression being, perhaps, warranted by BG 9 5<sup>b</sup> and 11 8<sup>d</sup>

 8 <sup>a</sup>) Ks (before corr as in text) Ds इक्ष्वमे, D10 शक्यते — <sup>b</sup>) D10 च चक्षुषा (for स्वच*)
 11 <sup>a</sup>) The Kash reading *मालाम्बर* for *माल्याम्बर* avoids the difficulty of interpreting माल्यम्बर. C<sub>2</sub> renders it by पुष्पाणि, Madhusūdana, Varavara-muni, and others by माला or स्रज. If the derivation be माला एव माल्यम्बर it raises the question (which was already raised under 6 1 20<sup>d</sup> and 26 13) regarding the exact wording and interpretation of the Vārtika to Pāṇini 5 1 124. If it means flowers, it can be derived according to Pāṇini 4 4 98 — <sup>c</sup>) Garrett reports a Malayalam variant देहम् (for देवम्)

Note the Vaisnavite reading विष्णुम् given by Ś1 alone here as well as in 14* below Schlegel read दीप्तम्

12 °) Ks साम्याद् (for मा म्याद्), due to similarity of स and म in the Śāradā script

13 °) Ks D<sub>9</sub> 10 तथा (for तदा)

16 °) The Dublin MS also reads विश्वरूपम् It is difficult to say whether विश्वरूप was changed to °रूपम् by case-attraction to the ending of 16<sup>b</sup>, or विश्वरूपम् to °रूप by case attraction to the adjacent विश्वेश्वर

18 °) D<sub>10</sub> (m as in text) निदानम् (for निधानम्) — °) मात्वन् (for शाश्वन्) is given by only a few Kash. MSS and seems both secondary and sectarian Compare BG 14 27°, where no such variant is reported In the Crit App a quotation from Cā is given Cg observes मात्वन्तमगोप्तेति । मत्-सत्य-क्रियामान-योरुभयोरपि भेदाप्रतिभासात्मकं तथा सत्तात्मकं प्रकाशरूपं तत्त्वं विधत्ते येषां ते सात्वता । तेषां धर्मः अनवरतग्रहणमन्यामपरत्वात्सृष्टिमहार-विषयः सकलमार्गोत्तीर्णः । तं गोपायते । It is, of course, possible to take मात्वन् by itself as a vocative — °) Garrett reports मतोसि (for मतो मे)

19 °) Where the text has त्वा it is usual for Cś to explain it by त्वाम्, and where there is no such explanation, it is presumed that it had त्वा before it Nevertheless the MSS at times divide themselves almost equally, and we could have read त्वा for त्वा

20 °) Only Ś2 Ko 4 Da2 D<sub>8</sub> read with Cś, accepted as text. The major group with S contains only a transposition उग्र तवेद (for इदं तवोग्र) The Kash group in the main gives a different reading So there is not enough justification for rejecting Cś

21 °) The better MSS of Cś contain the words त्वा त्वाम् Cu apparently had a different reading, and observes ॐ त्वामिनि पाठ आचार्येव्याख्यात इति भाति । अन्यथा त्वा त्वामिति भाष्यपाठोऽपेक्षितः । असुरमया इति पदं दृष्ट्वा भूभारभूता दुर्वोधनादयस्त्वा विशन्तीत्यपि वक्तव्यमिति तद्वीकाकारो-क्तिन्तु (e g, आनन्दगिरि) त्वा-इति पाठे मगच्छत इति श्रेयम् । ॐ

22 °) D<sub>8</sub> (before corr) त्वा (for त्वा) ॐ Cś त्वा त्वा विसिता विसयमापन्ना मन्तस्त एव सर्वे । ॐ No MS reads एव (for चैव)

24 °) D<sub>8</sub>, with the majority of Kashmir and S MSS, reads त्वा (for त्वा), but no commentator cites त्वा We have accepted त्वा with a wavy line

following B and some reliable Kashmir MSS like Ś2 Ko 1 D<sub>2</sub> 2

27-29 The three stanzas, by the addition of 103*, become 4½ (सर्वं श्लोकचतुष्कम्), and by the introduction of 102* (which Ś1 alone has preserved) become full five stanzas Ck, unaware of 102*, justifies the साधश्लोक or six-line stanza (viz 103*) thus — ॐ Ck अत्र नानारूपं इत्यादि त्वच्छरीरं प्रविष्टा इत्यन्तं श्लोक-साधकं श्लोकसाम्यार्थं केचिन्न पठन्ति । काश्चित् त्वत्तेजसा निहना नूनम्-इत्यादिश्लोकाधमनेनाभिप्रायेण न पठति । इह तु बहुपुस्तकग्रन्थाद्वारते च तत्र साधश्लोकप्रणयनाद्यासमुने साधमेव पठितम् । ॐ Nevertheless there remains the incongruity between the many mouths (वक्त्राणि) being spoken of as one mouth (वक्त्र) in 103*, line 2 For that, Ck gives a rather forced explanation ॐ Ck किं तु त्वं वक्त्राणि विशन्तीति बहुवचनं उपक्रम्य, अचिन्त्यरूपं त्वं वक्त्रं विशन्ति इति यदुक्तं तत्र कालपुरुषमवन्धिन्यो घोराकृतिविशेषरूपा नानाविधा शक्तयः एकस्या त्वर्धायाया मामान्यशक्तौ परिणमन्तीति भगवतः सर्वशक्त्याश्रय-त्वप्रतिपादनपरं बोद्धव्यम्, यतः अचिन्त्यरूपत्वेन विशेषणं युक्तम् । ॐ

38 °) Garrett reports वेद्यश्च (for वेद्यं च) — °) Ks D<sub>10</sub> अनन्तरूपम् (of 16<sup>b</sup>)

39-40 With 39<sup>ab</sup>, 104* makes one complete stanza The next stanza of four lines will accordingly include all the 'नम' lines (39<sup>cd</sup> + 40<sup>ab</sup>), and this seems to have prompted the addition To complete the next stanza, 105* is added to make the उत्तराध, 40<sup>cd</sup> being turned into the पूर्वार्ध

40 °) O-J काले (for सर्व)

41 °) For the Kash variant सखे च, of Introduction, p LXXIX The attempt to split सखेति into सखे + अति, and taking अति with उक्त is much too far fetched — *) The Kash variant तवेम ( for तवेद, where इद् has to be taken adverbially ) is an obvious lactio facilior Some supply विश्वरूप after इद्

42 °) तत्समक्ष is to be understood as two words
 ❀ Cś तत् समक्ष । तच्छब्दः क्रियाविशेषणाय । ❀ The Ś1 & Cā variant सत्समक्ष (= सज्जनानां समक्ष ) is not quite satisfactory Taking तत् adverbially, we can translate "there in company," or "indeed, in company"

43 °) Ks पूर्वश्च, D10 पूर्वस्य ( for पूज्यश्च ) Schlegel read गुणगरीयान्

44 °) For the Kash variant प्रियस्याहंसि, cf Introduction, p LXX. — The Tātparyacandrikā on Cr knows the extra stanzas 106* which it quotes with the following variants — ( L 7-8 ) कर्तामि लोकस्य यत् स्वयं विभो त्वत् सर्वं त्वयि सर्वं त्वमेव — ( L 10 ) कर्मोन्मान न च ( for कर्मोपमान न हि ) The commentator does not decide upon the question of their authenticity

46 °) The Ks reading मुजद्वयेन seems to be an invention of this source alone, as it is not found in any other MS Although mace and discus are the only two weapons mentioned, stanza 50<sup>a</sup> tells us that they are the weapons held by the Vāsudeva form, i e, with the discus held in the upper right hand and mace in the lower left hand The conch and the lotus held in the other two hands are not mentioned here, probably because they were not fighting weapons [ On the twentyfour images of Viṣṇu with the respective disposal of the four weapons in the four hands, cf the Padmapurāṇa, Pātālakhanda, chapter 78, stanzas 16-27<sup>ab</sup> ] In st 45<sup>c</sup> Arjuna, it will be remembered, uses the expression तदेव, which implies that he had already seen the form before This was actually the case cf. st 17 Only, this divine form then appeared in immediate succession to the many-armed form, stayed for a moment, and was lost again in the Omniform Apparition Now, Arjuna wants to see that form, alone ( tadeva ) and steadily ( tathaiiva ) Kṛṣṇa agrees to this ( 49<sup>ad</sup> ) This will also explain the use of the word bhūyah in 50<sup>b</sup> Since in stanza 50 we are told that the Divine Person assumed once again a milder form after showing the four-armed form to Arjuna, it is obvious that we have here three forms of manifestation Thousand-armed, Four armed, and Two-armed ( mānusa ) It is in the light of this that we have to understand the variant

नित्यरूप in 45<sup>c</sup>, and the Cup proposal to read देव and रूपम् as one word. In this connection, cf the following from योगवासिष्ठ I 53 37f

पर रूपमनाद्यन्त यन्ममैकमनामयम् ।
 मन्नात्मपरमात्मादिशब्देनैतदुत्पीर्यते ॥
 यावदप्रतिबुद्धस्त्वमनात्मशतया स्थित ।

8. °) O-J सधत्स्व ( for आधत्स्व ) — °) The Kash reading योगमुत्तममाश्रित ( for °) is evidently a device to avoid the hiatus मध्येव + अत

9 °) Ks, like Tz, अजन्तोपि — °) Garrett reports मामिच्छत्स्व ( for मामिच्छाप्नु )

10 °) S1 is alone in reading मुक्तिन् ( for सिद्धिन् ) Mukti by practising karmans must have been felt as an unexpected juxtaposition !

11 °) The Ñ1 reading उद्योगमाश्रित ( which is also given by a few S MSS ) does not yield a bad sense, but philosophically, the accepted reading ( which is also better documented ) is necessary — °) The Ś1 Ko reading यतात्मवाक् is not unacceptable only it has not more support

16 °) The Kash readings सर्वारम्भफलत्यागी in 16<sup>c</sup>, as well as शुभाशुभफलत्यागी in 17<sup>c</sup>, afford scope for raising the question whether the karmans as such are to be carried on But, on the other side, the compound could be understood as ' who abandons सवारम्भ and फल, or शुभाशुभ[ कर्मन्स ] and फल ' Compare BG 14 25<sup>c</sup>

1 Stanzas 108* and (alternatively) 109* are meant to lessen the abruptness of the introduction of the क्षेत्र-क्षेत्रज्ञ discussion in this chapter — <sup>b</sup>) D<sub>9</sub>, like D<sub>6</sub>, क्षेत्र इत्यभि°, to correspond with क्षेत्रज्ञ इति in <sup>d</sup>

2 <sup>c</sup>) T<sub>2</sub> reading क्षेत्रक्षेत्रयोर, probably to respect the vārtika अन्वर्हित च to Pāṇini 2 2 34, as क्षेत्रज्ञ is more important than क्षेत्र

4 <sup>b</sup>) Garrett reports वचोभिर् (for छन्दोभिर्) — <sup>a</sup>) For the Kash. variant विनिश्चितम् (for 'श्चितै'), cf Introduction, p LXXXI

6 <sup>d</sup>) For the interpretation of चेतना धृति as one word (चेतनाधृति, चेतनस्य आधृति), cf The Tātparyā-candrikā on the Cr to the passage.

11 <sup>a</sup>) The Kash change of 'नित्यत्व' to 'निष्ठत्व', here, and of 'नित्या' to 'निष्ठा' in BG 15 5<sup>b</sup>, is uncalled for in view of the more archaic use of the word नित्य in texts like इन्द्रियनित्य वचनम् and अथनित्य परीक्षेन from the Nirukta, or धमनित्या (Crit Ed धर्मे नित्या) विवेष्टा (Mbh 5 27 1)

12 <sup>d</sup>) Cu cites the two readings अनात्मित्व and अनादि मत्पर and, after some discussion, decides in favour of the former

16 <sup>a</sup>) For the Kash variant अविभक्त विभक्तेषु, cf Introduction, p LXXXI

17 <sup>d</sup>) The Kash. reading वेष्टि is only a scribal lapse S<sub>1</sub> मध्यग and the more usual विष्टि are only easy make-shifts C<sub>5</sub> explains the text विष्टितम् by विशेषेण स्थितम्

20 <sup>a</sup>) The MSS are all unanimous in reading कार्यकारण°, which C<sub>5</sub> cites as a pāṭhabheda It is possible to interpret both readings cogently

22 <sup>a</sup>) The Kash variant उपदेष्टा does not convey the 'Sākṣitva' idea, which उपद्रष्टा implies — <sup>b</sup>) The variant कर्ता (for भोक्ता) contradicts the normal role assigned to the Puruṣa with reference to the body

23 <sup>d</sup>) K<sub>3</sub> भूयोपि (for भूयोऽपि-)

7 <sup>d</sup>) D<sub>3</sub> देहिनाम् (for देहिनाम्), obviously due to eye wandering to the ending of the first line of the next stanza

9 <sup>a</sup>) O-J मत्त मत्ते (for मत्त सुत्ते)

10 <sup>b</sup>) The Kash. variant वर्धते is of the nature of a gloss for भवति, which primarily denotes वृद्धि

11 <sup>b</sup>) K<sub>3</sub> प्रकाशम् (for प्रकाशः [ ])

12 <sup>a</sup>) As to the variant लोभप्रवृत्तिरारम्भ, it is quite possible, in copying to dictation, to mis hear लोभ प्रवृत्ति° as लोभप्रवृत्ति° The contrary is a little less probable but not impossible Rajas is described as rāgātma (7<sup>a</sup>) and as the parent of lobha (17<sup>b</sup>), so that lobha is the first result of Rajas in ascendant Lobha produces conation (pravṛtti) which in time is translated into actual activity (ārambha) Action once begun, you do not wish to give up (asamaḥ), because your lobha has become now an ardent passion (sprhā) Thus 13<sup>ab</sup> gives a sequential statement as to the consequences of Rajas waxing, so that the variant लोभप्रवृत्ति° does not seem very satisfactory Nor is that variant adequately supported by MSS — <sup>d</sup>) The variant कुर्वन्न्दन is probably due to an eye-wandering to 13<sup>d</sup> There has been in 13<sup>d</sup> a reverse eye-wandering in some MSS with reference to 12<sup>d</sup>

18 <sup>a</sup>) O-J गच्छति सत्त्वस्थो, <sup>b</sup>) तिष्ठति राजस, <sup>c</sup>) 'गुणवृत्तिश्च, and <sup>d</sup>) अथो गच्छति — all statements in the singular number — <sup>e</sup>) K<sub>3</sub> D<sub>10</sub> 'गुणवृत्तिस्था (for 'गुणवृत्तस्था)

22 After the ref at the beginning of this stanza, the scribe of K<sub>0</sub> at first omitted (by hapl) stanzas 22-27 However, he soon perceived the mistake, but failed to delete the wrongly written lines covering stanzas 1-2 of the next chapter

23 <sup>d</sup>) For the Kash variant यो शक्तिश्च, cf Introduction, p LXXIX

24 <sup>a</sup>) The Ck variant समदुःखसुखस्वप्न is thus explained by the comm सुखदुःखस्वप्न इति सत्त्वरजस्तमोष्टय उक्ता । न सुखे प्रीयते, न दुःखे हेष्टि, न स्वप्ने मुच्यते । The order in that case should have been सुख-दुःख-स्वप्न

11 <sup>c</sup>) Ks यष्टव्य एवेति ( for यष्टव्यमेवेति )

12 <sup>bed</sup>) The Kashmir reading य इज्यते विद्धि न यद्य राजमचलमधुवन् is obviously intended to improve grammar by the change of यन् ( at the end of 12<sup>b</sup> ) into य , and is, as regards the rest, an anticipatory writing ( through mistake ) of parts of 18<sup>cd</sup>

11 <sup>a</sup>) K<sub>2</sub> नानु (for 'नानु') Garrett reports नानु (for नानु)

13 <sup>a</sup>) Cn definitely reads योयानि In the case of C, the editions as well as MSS of the Bhāṣya disagree The authorities seem almost equally divided

15 <sup>b</sup>) Garrett reports य (for न)

16 <sup>a</sup>) Nilakantha, reading कान, also supplies the word नानु — <sup>c</sup>) Garrett reports नोपपत्ते (for नानु)

18 <sup>b</sup>) Garrett reports प्रविष रमनोदनम

19 <sup>c</sup>) The S<sub>2</sub> reading प्रोत्ते improves the syntax

21 <sup>b</sup>) Garrett reports नानुभावात्पृथिविधा

— <sup>b</sup>) For अहन्नवद्, cf note on 6 38 8<sup>d</sup> — <sup>c</sup>) Garrett reports नानुभावात्पृथिविधा

24 <sup>c</sup>) The Kash variant is नोपपत्ते (for नोपपत्ते) Any one of the two can be the original, and the other its gloss The reading accepted has better support of representative MSS

25 <sup>b</sup>) K<sub>2</sub> D<sub>10</sub> अनपेक्ष्य (for अनपेक्ष्य)

28 <sup>b</sup>) The variant नैष्टिको (for नैष्टिको) is obviously a scribal error The word is derived from √ ह्न 'to cut' in the sense of परपृच्छित्तेनपर, or from √ ह्न 'to do' in the sense of परावमाननशील, and the prefix is नि, and not निष् The word occurs several times in the Epic Perhaps the following from the Āraṇyaka-parvan (Crit Ed, chap 49, st 20) will be useful in determining the sense as well as the form

निष्ठित्या निष्ठितप्रज्ञा हन्तव्या इति निश्चयः ।

न हि नैष्टिको हत्वा निष्ठित्या पापमुच्यते ।

32 <sup>b</sup>) Garrett reports नमसा धृता (for 'माधृता')

33 <sup>a</sup>) Garrett reports धारयेत् (for धारयेत्)

36 <sup>a</sup>) For निगच्छति and the variants for it, cf 6 31 31<sup>d</sup>

37<sup>a</sup> and 38<sup>b</sup>) The Kash variant नदत्ते (for तदत्ते) in the sense of 'for the time being' — अभ्यास-वाच्ये as Cg puts it, or साध्यावस्थाया in the words of C<sub>1</sub> — is quite acceptable in itself Only, in 39<sup>a</sup> also, the reading should have been यत्तदत्तेऽनुवन्धे च, instead of यदत्ते चानु The words नदत्ते could be misread as नदत्ते in 37<sup>a</sup> and 38<sup>b</sup>, but this is ruled out by the absence in 39<sup>a</sup> of the initial न — <sup>c</sup>) Garrett reports तत्मास्त्रिकमिति प्रोक्तम्

42 <sup>b</sup>) K<sub>2</sub> शानिर् (for क्षानिर्) Garrett reports अहिमा क्षान्तिनवम्

44 <sup>a</sup>) K<sub>2</sub> D<sub>10</sub> गौरक्ष<sup>a</sup> C<sub>2</sub> reads गौरक्ष<sup>a</sup> and derives it thus छी गा रक्षनीति गोरक्ष, तस्य भाव गौरक्षम् छी (Panini 5 1 124) C<sub>2</sub> seems to have read 'गौरक्ष<sup>a</sup>' which the Tātparyacandrikā understands not as a Taddhita form, but simply a बहुव्रीहिमास—गौ रक्ष्या यमिन्कमणि नत्कर्म Garrett reports the variant वाणिज्य कृषिगोरक्षा, wherein precedence is given to वाणिज्य, the वैद्यकम् par excellence — <sup>c</sup>) Paryutthāna, or standing up at the approach of the teacher or the elder, is one of the rules of the Paricaryā which, in the Kash reading is used for the whole code of service Even the Kash sources do not give the reading consistently 47 <sup>ab</sup>) The repetition of 6 25 35<sup>cd</sup> at this place is hardly necessary in the context It is a Kash addition (110*) with the Kash. variant for the post half, for which see note on 6 25 35<sup>d</sup> — <sup>c</sup>) Garrett reports स्वभावविहित (for 'नियत')

50 <sup>a</sup>) Garrett reports सिद्धिप्राप्तो (for सिद्धि प्राप्ते) For the Kash reading, cf Introduction, p xxxx The difficulty comes in only when we try to connect तथा with the verb निरोध, which is not at all necessary — <sup>a</sup>) Ks चापरा (for या परा) The relative या does not refer to ब्रह्माप्ति, as is often supposed. The latter half of the stanza characterizes the siddhi in 50<sup>a</sup> as being, in essence, ज्ञानम् परा निष्ठा. "Since [यथा] such supreme siddhi is attained, he must necessarily [तथा] attain Brahman, — I do assure you." The available variants are forlorn attempts to make a plausible construction and sense.

51 <sup>a</sup>) Garrett reports रामेपातुस्य च

54 <sup>b</sup>) The variant ह्ययति (for काहति) is suggested by 6 34 17<sup>a</sup>, but the text as given is a standing description of frequent occurrence in the Tpic 64 <sup>a</sup>) Do दृढ इति (for दृढमिति) The word दृढ is an adverb. Not perceiving this, Ko N1 and a few other MSS offer the variant दृढमनिस्, which Ck explains by स्थिरबुद्धि. Schlegel read दृढमतिस्.

66 <sup>b</sup>) O J कारण (for शरण) — <sup>a</sup>) Schlegel read मोचयिष्यामि (for मोक्ष).

67 <sup>a</sup>) Garrett reports योऽवयस्यते (for 'स्यति)

68 <sup>a</sup>) Ks य इम C6 reads and explains इम (for इद्) as referring to this ग्रन्थ. The neuter इद्, as referring to गुण (of 64<sup>a</sup>), is more usually found in MSS. — <sup>a</sup>) The variant अमशयम् is to be understood as an अवयवीभाव compound going with the verb पश्यति. The accepted text अमशय १५ अ नस्तत्पुरुष and should be interpreted as a separate sentence, or, it can also be taken as a बहुव्रीहि, qualifying the subject of पश्यति.

72 <sup>a</sup>) The variant प्रणष्टस् (on the analogy of प्रणश्यति) found in several MSS is due to ignoring Pāṇini's special ruling against this पठ् change of the past part of √ नश् in Sūtra 8 4 36

75 <sup>b</sup>) Ks Do गुणतम (for गुणमह) As in 68<sup>a</sup>, गुण is to be considered a noun, and सवाद in 74<sup>a</sup>, as well as योग in 75<sup>a</sup>, are used in apposition to it. The reading गुणतम or 'तर rules out that possibility, unless we change पठ् to इम. The commentator Ānandagiri's statement एतत्पद सवाद-परत्वात्पुल्लिङ्गत्वेन नेतव्यमित्याह—एतमिति, shows that C6 read पठ्, which is glossed as पठ. — <sup>a</sup>) For the Kash. reading योगीश्वरात् here as well as in 78<sup>a</sup> below, cf. note on 6 33 4<sup>a</sup>

77 <sup>a</sup>) Ks नलगज (for महागजान्)

78 <sup>b</sup>) Ks धनजय (for धनुष) — <sup>a</sup>) The Kash. reading इति (for नीतिर्) no doubt supplies the needed इति to end Saṃjaya's statement, but its omission is not a fatal defect. The word preceding इति can be युवा (with the hiatus) or युवा (masc or fem plu) standing collectively for the three categories mentioned. To read युवानो[र्ना]नि together (omitting the रफ), and to split it into युवाने[र्ना] + ननि, is grammatically impossible, because there is no justification for the neuter plural. Schlegel read युवाणीति. It was युवा नीति that the Bhagavadgītā had set out to inculcate, and hence that is the reading generally favoured.

8 <sup>a</sup>) येन रिपुवाहिनीन् Blend of two constructions, रिपुवाहिनीं यथौ, where येन is displaced by a word line वीर (Ś1 T1 G2 4) or धीर (D6), and येन रिपुवाहिनीं आसीत्. Cn ॐ रिपुवाहिनीं प्रविश्येति श्रेय । ३३

9 <sup>a</sup>) Do 10 S read वृकोत्तर (for धनजय), to whom (as being the next in age to धर्म) they assign st 11. The same MSS also has 117<sup>a</sup>, as also assign st 12 to अञ्जु.

18-19 Om in Ś1 Ko 1 only. The stanzas could have been also om by us, but have been retained, as O J has the second of them.

20 <sup>a</sup>) GK reads कृष्णेऽत्र (for कृष्णे तु), a variant not found in our MSS.

21 <sup>a</sup>) *नेत्रोऽस्ति The initial न is very largely supported, even in MSS which understand the second word as पयो, and thereby give a meaning the reverse of what could have been intended. The change of sibilants is very common, being exemplified in the variants of the very next word, 'पास्यन्'. In the Śāradā script the stroke above the line to indicate ए and ऐ is often confusing, so that the v l नैशो in K1 could just as well have been our text. Hence the emendation ईश = योऽहम् मर्ष.

33-34 Cf 5 180 15-17, where Bhīṣma behaves in the same manner towards his guru.

37 <sup>a</sup>) The variant मृत (for हत), found in Ś1 K1 2 4 B Da Dn D4 5 7 8, rather accords with a 47 <sup>a</sup>) तुष्टे (Ś1 Ko 2 2 : D2 2 2) are a people otherwise unknown. So also, मउका (Ko 2) and लउका (Ko 2) in 49°, and तुम्बुपा (Ś1) in 51° below 48 <sup>c</sup>) Double saṁdhi, which S seeks to avoid

47

☞ This chapter contains a very large number of verbal similarities with the opening passages of the Bhagavadgītā, and may well belong to the pre Gītā stage in the evolution of the epic

7 <sup>b</sup>) त्रैलोक्य (K2 2 D2 2 only) — <sup>c</sup>) अश्वका (Ś1 only) The texts are uncertain in both cases.

20 <sup>d</sup>) दाभिक (Ś1), a son of काट्य, is otherwise unknown

48

2 <sup>b</sup>) सनद्धा is to be understood as the predicate. Not perceiving the construction, S ins 158* to complete the sense

8 <sup>b</sup>) सात्यकौ (Ś1 K2 2 D2 2 2) could just as well have been accepted as शनैः, which is a Southern paraphrase of the name. Only, the N tradition is divided, and सात्यकौ could have been the paraphrase for the orig शनैः. St 11 would show that the late Northern variant अर्जुने is unacceptable

9 <sup>b</sup>) चाभित (Ś1 only) The variants are too many, and none intrinsically superior

18 With 159*, compare 74*, 148*, and 451*

29 <sup>c</sup>) Double saṁdhi द्रौपदेया + अभिमन्युश्च; cf 6 46 48°.

43 The sequence of stanzas in Ś1 is most baffling (see Addenda et Corrigenda). In the original from which Ś1 was copied, there was probably a wrong turning over of two sides of a folio beginning with the common beginning शरजाल शरैरन्यैर् (6 48 43°, 69°). This led to the copying of 48 69°-49 4° before that of stanzas ending with 48 69°, and, when the mistake was discovered, to a recopying of the entire matter from 48 43° onwards. The cancellation of the twice written matter by means of yellow pigment was, for some reason or other, not made, leading to the present puzzling reduplication of stanzas

49

30 <sup>b</sup>) For च भानुमत् (K2 M2-2), we could have accepted the better documented मनोमान. Was the apparent incongruity between चन्द्र and भानु perceived and deliberately altered?

36 <sup>d</sup>) The Ś1 K2 2 D2 2 reading which om अन्यम् will not suit, as Dhṛtadyumna's subsequent movements were independent of Bhīma (st 39)

50

9 <sup>c</sup>) प्रजानन् (Ś1 Ko 2 2 D2 M2), injunctive for प्राजानन्

24 <sup>c</sup>) उद्वर्धय is found in Ś1 alone, but Ko and B2 D2 2 D2 2 2 practically support it

51

1 <sup>a</sup>) * गतापराक्षभूयिष्ठे. In the अवतार chapters (6 45 1, 55 3), गतपूर्वाक्षभूयिष्ठे is the standardized opening, and it is found in Ś1 Ko 2 2 B1-2 D2 2 in the present chapter. But after the भीम-कलिङ्ग fight of the preceding chapter, the day (and not पूर्वाक्ष only) must have very nearly come to an end. The S variant ततोऽपराक्षभूयिष्ठे realises the difficulty. O J reads तस्मिन् गतभूयिष्ठे राजन्वहनि दारुणे

31 <sup>d</sup>) चामराणा (TG M2) तोमराणा (Ś1 Ko-2 B2 D2 2 M2 2 2) could have been preferred, only, they occur already in 30, which most of these MSS haplogically omit

The incident is repeated in 6 102 24ff with several parallelisms in words and sentiment. This first form is more elaborate than the second, and is hence secondary. For a detailed comparison of the two forms, cf. "Mahābhārata Text-Transmission Problem No 3", Annals, B O R I, Vol xxvi, pp 106-119. — <sup>a</sup>) यत्नानाति (K<sub>8</sub>-s B D [except D<sub>2</sub>]) In the corresponding passage in 6 102 24<sup>a</sup>, the double sandhi is avoided, the text being यत्नानाश्च (S<sub>1</sub> Ko-2 : B M<sub>1</sub>-2 :)

40 <sup>b</sup>) देवकिनन्दन (S<sub>1</sub> K D<sub>2</sub> :), the original long ending of the first member of the compound being shortened optionally according to Pāṇini 6 3 63. In the corresponding passage in 6 102 30<sup>b</sup>, all MSS substitute यादवनन्दन.

47 <sup>a</sup>) रश्मिमान् (S<sub>1</sub> K<sub>5</sub> T G<sub>2</sub>-1 M<sub>1</sub>-1) formed acc to Pāṇini 8 2 9. In the corresponding passage in 6 102 38<sup>a</sup>, we have the more usual form रश्मिवान् (S<sub>1</sub> Ko-1 B Da Dn D<sub>1</sub> & 1 (orig) s-s T<sub>2</sub> G<sub>1</sub> M<sub>1</sub>).

103 <sup>b</sup>) *पद्मनेत्रन् (S<sub>1</sub> Ko-2 : s) is certainly to be preferred to the more familiar *पद्मनेत्रम्, पद्मनेत्रम्, or *नेत्रपद्मन्. The eyes get naturally somewhat closed in the act of blowing the conch.

18 <sup>a</sup>) सोऽञ्जुन Several MSS read अञ्जुन to avoid the possibility of wrong syntax.

58

1-6 The petulance of Dhṛtarāṣṭra here and in 6 61 1-13, although natural, would be somewhat awkward if we suppose that the news of Bhīsmā's death was already communicated to him by Saṁjaya in chapter 6 14. The transposition of certain initial stanzas of this adhy to adhy 61 in S<sub>1</sub> Ko-2 alone, was probably due to a misplaced folio in their ancestor.

15 <sup>b</sup>) For the elision of आ, cf 1 41 5, 53 18, 68 64, 70 41, etc.

18 <sup>a</sup>) Double Sandhi, द्रौपदेया + अभिमन्युश्च Cf 6 59 10<sup>a</sup>

38 <sup>a</sup>) छुरै 'razor-headed', छुरप्रै 'with horse-shoe heads', अञ्जलिकै 'with crescent shaped heads' — P C Roy

60

9 It is to be noted that 244* (given by Da D<sub>5</sub>) is found in the GK, but not in the Cal ed.

61

1-23 The O J omits the dialogue between Dhṛtarāṣṭra and Saṁjaya at the beginning of this chapter, its account commencing with st 25.

31 <sup>a</sup>) The O J reading seems almost unconnected.

51 <sup>c</sup>) मनोद्भावं (S<sub>1</sub> D<sub>3</sub> M<sub>1</sub> 4) The variants merely seek to avoid the double sandhi within the compound word.

65-66 A definite allusion to the "Caturvūha" doctrine, which is not known to the Bhagavadgītā. Cf 6 62 39.

67 °) Cf 6 58 15<sup>b</sup>

19 °) हृषीकेश, governed by ब्रयात्, but possibly also by the verbal idea in अवधानात् (found in Ś1 K B1 Da Dn2 D1-1 5-1).

63

2 In the prose paraphrase preceding 2<sup>a</sup>ed, O-J refers only to Mārkaṇḍeya, and not to Nārada, Dvaipāyana, Asita, Devala and others mentioned in 263*, which is a Southern insertion

12 °) For कर्णचोरोद्धय (Ś1 Ko 1 T1 G M), cf 61 51<sup>c</sup>

12 Noteworthy is the ins of 269*, found in D1 alone

65

3 °) सप्रयुद्ध (Ś1 Ko-2 5 D1-2), कर्नरि क् according to Pāṇini 3 4 72 The variants seek to avoid awkward syntax

4 The following S insertion, 272*, is an attempt to display knowledge of Karmakāṇḍa

7 °) पाण्डया, supply अन्वीयु Probably, however, the word is without any predicate, the sentence being suddenly interrupted to make room for details of the Śyena-vyūha

10 °) समग्रा या (Ś1 D1 8 8 T1 G M), a parenthetical clause The reading च पाचाव्यो is a clear loc' fac

12 °) वृष्टे, an old scribal error of most N MSS, due to the initial word वृष्टन् of the line immediately above

13 °) The S variant मकर सागर यया is distinctly inferior मकर is the name of the Kaurava Vyūha

17-19 Duryodhana approaches and flatters Drona probably the result of the Viśvopākhyāna !

67

12 °) योगमन (K3 only), cf 6 17 20<sup>a</sup>

22 °) प्रयुक्तानि (Ś1 K4 5 D1 6 S), cf note on 6 65 3<sup>c</sup>

34 °) दीनता (K4 5 B1 6 Dn2 D2 [by corr] 6 T1 G) is the lect diff correctly explained by Cn It is rather strange that the ŚK, B and M versions, should have missed the real word The M variant तनिन् is probably a paraphrase of the original दीनन्, understood as त्रि + इतन्.

68

9 °) Plural predicate for a dual subject MSS try to avoid it by a direct change or through 284*, which makes the subject plural

12 °) The O-J does not follow the S reading

17 °) अस्वत्तान (archaic) = अन्यमानानाम्, active for passive

19 °) रथभिहाननव्याघ्रा (Ś1 K6) The carved tiger mouths under the royal car seats are probably intended, unless व्याघ्रा = पुरुषव्याघ्रा The available variants are make-shifts

69

26 °) The Madras ed (p 408, last line) gives for this a variant देहात्मभिन्नकमुखात्, which is not found in any of our MSS

29 The construction is समिद्ध [काष्ठादि] शातयन् पावक इव सौमद्र सैन्वानि शातयन् अत्यरोचत । The variants try to put समिद्ध and पावक in the same case

71

14 °) मैत्र्य is evidently intended as in apposition to व्यूह (Ś1 Ko 2 3 5 B1 4 Dn2 Dn2 D1-5 7 8 T2) Cf note on 6 1 20<sup>d</sup>

32 °) पलायनपरामर्शन is either double sandhi, or augmentless Imperfect

72

The first 18 stanzas of this chapter (with some additions and omissions) are repeated in the Dronaparvan, GK chapter 114. Both these parvans must be drawing upon a common source, although, in a few instances, there arises just the suspicion that Drona may have the Bhīṣma text before it, and the epic is merely repeating itself. We are utilising for our notes some important variants in the common stanzas as recorded in the collation sheets of the Dronaparvan.

1 <sup>b</sup>) The corresponding passage in 7 114, gives the pāda as एव प्रविचित वरन् (७ १ वरन्, परन्), प्रविचितम् 'selected, choice'

2 <sup>a</sup>) Drona reads नित्य पूजितमम्माभि, a lect fac — <sup>c</sup>) Drona reads प्रौढमत्यद्रुताकार

3 <sup>c</sup>) Drona reads लघुवृत्तायनप्राण — <sup>d</sup>) Drona offers the variant मारयोधममन्त्रितम्

4 <sup>c</sup>) Drona reads अतमनाहमप (७ १ छ)त्र For the following seven lines, Drona merely gives — शस्त्रग्रहणविद्यासु बह्विषु परिनिष्ठितम्, thus avoiding the detailed enumeration of the different weapons

9 <sup>ab</sup>) After 9<sup>ab</sup>, several Drona MSS give the addl line — चमनिस्त्रिगुदे च नियुदे च विग्रोरम्

10 <sup>cd</sup>) For 10<sup>cd</sup>, Drona subst नानाहृत नाप्यमृत मम मैत्र्य बभूव ह

11 <sup>ab</sup>) Drona reads the line as — कुलीनायजनोपेत तुष्टपुष्टमनुद्धतम् — <sup>c</sup>) Drona gives the variant कृतमानोपचार च

12 <sup>a</sup>) For सजयैश्च, Drona reads सचिवैश्च, which is not amongst the variants in our Crit App, it gives a better sense

13 <sup>a</sup>) For क्षत्रियैर्, Drona reads पार्थिवैर् — <sup>b</sup>) Drona reads असत्प्रियचिकीपुभि — <sup>c</sup>) Drona reads अस्मानमिसृते

14 After 14<sup>cd</sup>, some Drona MSS give the addl stanza

प्रभिन्नकरटैश्चैव द्विरदैरावृत महत् ।

यदहन्यत मे मैत्र्य किमन्यद्भागधेयत ॥

15 <sup>a</sup>) Drona reads बोधाक्षयचल — <sup>d</sup>) For 'शर-प्राप्तममाकुलम्, Drona reads 'शरप्राप्त (७ १ शूल)मपाकुलम्, which brings out the metaphor more clearly

16 <sup>a</sup>) Drona gives the variant ध्वजाग्रमणिमवाध — <sup>c</sup>) For परिमर्षद्भिर्, Drona gives the variant बहु (७ १ परि-, अपि) धावद्भिर्

17 <sup>ab</sup>) Drona om this line — <sup>cd</sup>) Of course, with Bhīṣma gone, the reading had to be changed

The line is thus read द्रोणगन्भीरपात्राल (७ १ पात्राल-गन्भीर) कृतवर्ममहाहृदम् From this point onwards the two parvans differ very considerably Dhṛtarāṣṭra's lament in Drona goes on for 46 stanzas

73

1 The corresponding Dronaparvan passage begins with B 7 114 47 (some MSS beginning a new chapter with it) There is verbal agreement only in parts of the first stanza

11 <sup>d</sup>) महेन्द्र (Ś1 Ko-2 D1 3 4 6 8 T1 G1 M1-3) in place of the महेन्द्र required by syntax and substituted by several MSS The poet seems to have changed his mind in the middle of the sentence

12 <sup>c</sup>) छात्र्याना, the variant in Ś1 K3 5 T1 G M1, can be taken to qualify the रथिन implied in रथिना But the variant has not sufficient support

16 <sup>d</sup>) The S MSS offer a variant on the supposition that Dhṛṣṭadyumna must be advancing to wards भीम and not towards मौवल But the मौवलमेना had already been pierced through by Bhīma on chariot, and धृष्टद्युम्न had to do the same before he could come upon Bhīma's chariot

31 <sup>b</sup>) भारतीन् (Ś1 Ko-3 5 Da2 D2 3 5 T2 M), supply संनाम्

34 <sup>d</sup>) क्रोधिना (T1 G), evidently for alliterative effect

74

32 In the metaphor, रथ is used in two capacities, as आवर्त and as नौ, but the first is the hostile chariot, and the second their own The Late-Northern emendation शरावर्त is therefore uncalled for

75

49 <sup>a</sup>) निहत, not in the sense of 'killed', but 'wounded, or struck down' Duṣkarna figures in the Dronaparvan also

77

40 <sup>b</sup>) उन्नीयत् (Ś1 K2 5 Dn3 D4 6 8 G1 M1), augmentless past

78

38 <sup>c</sup>) नामभ्रमयद् (Ś1 Ko-3 5 Da Dn D6-8)

The augment is placed before the preposition, as if the root was √ संभ्रम्

55 <sup>a</sup>) आभिद्वत् (K<sub>4</sub>[त्वा] Dn D<sub>3</sub> 4) The variants are mainly scribal blunders due to the unfamiliar word आदिध् 'porcupine'

79

17 <sup>c</sup>) नवम (Ś<sub>1</sub> Ko-2 D<sub>3</sub>) = नवम नः in Rv 5 57 3 It is possible to understand the word as अनवम = अन् + अवम = परमं

81

17 <sup>a</sup>) छिन्नायुध (Ko-3 5 B D [D<sub>1</sub> 6m] M<sub>1</sub> 3 5) The reading implies that Bhīṣma cut into pieces the bow of Śikhandin. Since Bhīṣma is said to have always avoided Śikhandin, this is unlikely to have happened, so that one is inclined to almost accept Ś<sub>1</sub> K<sub>4</sub> M<sub>2</sub> reading छिन्नायुध, going with अत्रात-युध and in a way accounting for his anger. But st 21 makes it clear that Śikhandin was defeated by Bhīṣma. This might be a lapse, or the passage might belong to a stage when the author did not make too much of a fetish of the Śikhandin motif. Cf 6 113 38

20 <sup>c</sup>) अतिनिगमतेऽ (Ś<sub>1</sub> K<sub>3</sub>) The form तेन (for तेजस्) is permitted in certain compounds, and also by itself. It is archaic, and the variants only seem to rectify the supposed lapse.

23 <sup>a</sup>) Neither आशायमानेऽपि (Ś<sub>1</sub> K<sub>3</sub>[हि] M<sub>1</sub> 5 5 [all three च] 4 [तु]) nor आशायमानेन (K<sub>2</sub> B<sub>1</sub> D<sub>1</sub>) gives a very satisfactory sense. The variants with अ* for आ* are still worse. Perhaps the best variant is आजीयमानेन given by K<sub>7</sub>.

82

42 <sup>a</sup>) O J reads as in D<sub>3</sub> — <sup>a</sup>) Note the stylistic variation in B Da Dn D<sub>1-3</sub>.

83

4 <sup>b</sup>) महाचमू (Ś<sub>1</sub> K<sub>3</sub> 5 G<sub>1</sub> 3 M<sub>3</sub> 5), acc plu. The variants are due to attempts to correct the alleged inaccuracy.

7 <sup>c</sup>) O J paraphrase gives दारु as the name instead of पारु.

9 <sup>a</sup>) O-J paraphrase gives the name as चिचिर, which is very near चिच्छीर of Ś<sub>1</sub>.

84

15 <sup>a</sup>) Double sandhi

31 <sup>a</sup>) The reference is to 5 146. 18-25

40 <sup>c</sup>) विमोक्तय (Ś<sub>1</sub> K<sub>2-4</sub> B<sub>1</sub> 2 4 Da Dn D<sub>1</sub> 4 5 7 S) is not, however, as good a reading as the one given by D<sub>2</sub> 3 or D<sub>3</sub>. Perhaps the sense is, 'I am not to be let loose (i.e. employed) for a specific purpose, not to be made to run specific errands.'

85

9 By the om. of the ref, st 9-13 are regarded as a continuation of Dhṛtarāṣṭra's speech, which has necessitated certain other changes. For विमो in 9<sup>a</sup>, there are the variants विमो and वि- to be applied to विदुः. The former is given as a synonym for 'servant'.

34 <sup>a</sup>) *चवसु-दिगमि K<sub>1</sub> gives चवसु, K<sub>7</sub> चरम, which suggested the emendation चवि = 'cotton'; चव्य = 'made of cotton'. As the scattered ropes are compared to flowers, cotton ropes would suit the context.

86

41 <sup>c</sup>) उपहन्त and पारुन्त are two specific passes by the sword or mace. Ko 1 give them as अभिहन्त and अवहन्त.

86 <sup>a</sup>) There being a statement in the singular (य) in the first line, we do not expect a sudden shift to the plural (योधा[ ]) K<sub>1</sub>, reading योधा, almost suggests *योद्धा.

88

21<sup>a</sup>, 22<sup>b</sup>) This sequence (given by Ś<sub>1</sub> Ko-2 4) is justified by the sequence in which they are described as wounded (st 30-37).

89

4 <sup>cd</sup>) शरपीव (Ś<sub>1</sub> Ko-2 4 B D<sub>1</sub> Dn D<sub>1</sub> 5 5 7 5) can be correct, because some sharp showers are known to belong to the period when the Sun is in the हस्तनक्षत्र, which happens in the शरद्. शरपीव is an easy change, and S and several N MSS have succumbed to it. Compare 6 90 16<sup>ab</sup>, where शरद्-

धीव is given by Ś1 K4 Dn2 D3 : T G4 M4 With प्रावृषीव as the original text, nobody would normally think of changing it to शदीव Cf also 6 91 34<sup>d</sup>, where no MS reads शदीव

90

32 <sup>b</sup>) कमापायितान् (G4 Cd only), Cd explaining ॐ कमारि होएकार १ तं पायितान् इन्द्रायैतान् ॥ The similarity of व and च, and of प and ब is mainly responsible for the variants that occur *मायितान् of Late Northern MSS is merely a paraphrase

33 The non mention of the sixth arrow is made good by 534* (given by K4 only) as also by 355* (given by S [T2 om]), the om being easily accountable by eye-wandering from अहेन in 354* or 355* (prior half) to अनेन in 33<sup>a</sup>

91

44 <sup>d</sup>) शान्देयानि (K2- B Dn2 D1-4 c-3) need not be wrong, as the exploit of the hostile elephant can also be an object of dispassionate praise

53 <sup>e</sup>) अमृता (K4 B1-3), but the variants are close, and not of consequence

92

10 <sup>ab</sup>) Obviously referring to BG line नवाद्रपा दुरत मन्त्रं त्वा महारथा (6 24 35) The next line alludes to Arjuna's final consent to fight The Late Northern reading of 10<sup>ad</sup> युद्धं तु न न रविन or न युद्धोभिरुचिन would not be consistent with 10<sup>ab</sup>

49ff We have here an enumeration of war-implements left (विमुज्य) on the battle field The first in the list is in the acc case, and those following will have to be in the same case — <sup>e</sup>) चाप + विद्वानि, not च + अपविद्वानि

50 ज्ञान्पमया was wrongly supposed to be nom, and this led to the change of प्रानान् etc into प्राना But ज्ञान्पमया (instead of *मयी) is an archaic fem. form Also द्रव्य is archaic acc plu from द्रक्ती

51 <sup>a</sup>) अपवृत्ता (M4 only) and पतिना, acc fem going with ऋष्टी and द्रव्य (for *क्ती) The first, though actually found in M4 alone, is rendered probable by the variants अयकुता, अयकुता, अयकुता, अयकुता etc, where only scribal errors appear to be in evidence — <sup>d</sup>) मिहि(न्नि)पालाश्च, the acc, is found in K4 B Dn1 D1 : 1 : 8 only

52 <sup>e</sup>) कुया, practically given by all MSS, was supposed to be nom. plural from कुय But there is also the word कुया (fem) meaning the same thing The unfamiliarity of the fem form led to the putting of the nouns in the two preceding lines in the nom case

61 <sup>d</sup>) For अवि (instead of अविस्), see note on 6 22 9<sup>e</sup> above

72 <sup>a</sup>) अचन्द्रैश्च (K2-4 only) अचन्द्रैश्च of Ś1 K4 can yield a sense which is not equally happy The Late-Northern variant implies that some kind of arrows are meant

93

6 <sup>d</sup>) प्रकर्मिणे (K2 1 D3 G M) from √ कृ in the Vedic sense of 'winning' Not so in 7<sup>d</sup>!

94

Devabodha ends the 8th day of the war at the end of chap 94 (= GK 98 28<sup>ab</sup>) His next adhyāya begins with the line प्रमाताया तु शर्व्या etc The entire N recension, however, makes the ninth day begin with 6 94 1, which is contradicted by 94 20 As Devabodha is an early commentator, and his adhyāya division is logical, we have adopted it, supported as it is by S

11 <sup>ab</sup>) We have here a characteristic ins, 380*, given by a large number of N MSS, which is entirely absent in the M version, and the majority of MSS of the B version

11 <sup>e</sup>) For द्योते, of 6 41 81<sup>b</sup> above

15 <sup>d</sup>) The S substitute 382* seems to have some definite beast-fable in view

41 <sup>a</sup>) क्षेडा (acc plu of क्षेडा, 'battle-cry') The word was wrongly taken to be masc nom plu, and hence the confused change of case-endings, which should have been all acc plurals governed by नादयन्त (in <sup>d</sup>) — <sup>b</sup>) कयचान् (K2 B2-4), for which K4 S read कयगान्

50 <sup>b</sup>) °वकवायसा वक is given by Ś1 and, in part, by K2. Perhaps, in view of Cd, °व(व)ल° would have been more acceptable. Cn, attempting to explain वलवायसा by वलोदया काका, is hardly acceptable. Cf 6 2 17

96

5 <sup>b</sup>) ह्यपृष्ठाच्च (K0 T1 G) seems evidently correct, the Ś1 K1-3 T2 ह्यपृष्ठाश्च being only a scribal error

98

99

22 <sup>a</sup>) वैश्रवण चाति (K2 5 B1 3 4 Da Dn D1 3-5 7 8) The prep अति is used as a कर्मप्रवचनीय

34 <sup>a</sup>) अस्त्रिसचयसघाटा (T1 G M) The Ś1 K0 3 4 D1 3 5 variant only substitutes °ता for °टा. A सघाट is the paved approach to the river bed, and the word suits the context. In the Rāmāyana (2 55 14, 18), the word is used to denote a wooden structure for crossing the river. Cf Marāṭhī घाट

100

1 <sup>a</sup>) The T G2 M variant for the pāda is intended to avoid the awkwardness of Suśarma being killed (अनयत्प्रेतराजस्य सदन) and yet continuing the fight in the very next stanza. Obviously, it is the kings led by सुशर्मन् that are killed, and not सुशर्मन् himself. The GK reading of 1<sup>b</sup>, सुशर्मन्-चरान्, which practically belongs to the Bengali and Devanāgarī versions, is intended to make the intention clear

102

24ff Regarding the repetition of the Bhīṣma pratyūñā episode, see notes on 6 55 34ff

46 <sup>a</sup>) After this, GK adds the line

गङ्गेयस्त्वन्नवीत्यर्थं धन्विश्रेष्ठमरिदमन् ।

which is not given in any MS, nor in the Cal ed

49 After this, D2 6 indulge in a little poetic description on their own account, 411* Compare also 413*, 415*, which come from the same source

68 <sup>a</sup>) The text सत्येन सत्येन (G1-3) is made probable by the variants सत्येन सत्येन (D2 T1 G2 M), सत्येन मुन्येन (K2); सत्येन वाक्येन (D1), वाक्येन सत्येन (Ś1 K0-2), and सत्येन मुन्येन (D2)

103

34 <sup>a</sup>) द्वीप (Ś1 K0 1 5 Da D2 3 5 M1-3 5 Cd) Cf note on 6 8 14<sup>c</sup>

35 The reference is to 5 160 1-8

52 <sup>a</sup>) माधव (Ś1 K0-2) St 52 is the समञ्चना (53<sup>a</sup>) of the Pāṇḍavas, and not a continuation of Kṛṣṇa's speech. This point was not noticed, and so माधव was changed to भारत or भारतम्

55 O-J gives the correct sequence of Bhīṣma's welcome, which D1 also tries to secure. Bhīṣma, however, might have on this occasion purposely given precedence to Arjuna over Dharma and Bhīma

59 <sup>a</sup>) राजन् (Ś1 K0-2 5 D2 6 T2 M), as an address to भीष्म, need not necessarily be regarded as an oversight. वीर and तात are obvious emendations

73 <sup>a</sup>) दुष्प्रेक्ष्ये is actually found as Ksp, and is given by K2, but दुष्प्रापे of Ś1 K0-2 and दुष्प्रापे of D2 are really दुष्प्रेक्ष्ये, as ए is equal to ख in the Śāradā script, and that supports our text

89 वध्यतु of the majority of N MSS is deliberately changed to बाधतु, or निहन्तु

92 पूर्वोन्म — Cd explains पूर्व काष्णमिन्द्रो यस्य Cf 1 61 84<sup>d</sup>

101 <sup>a</sup>) The NTG ins 433* is inconsistent after 83 M alone, which we follow in omitting 433*, is consistent

104

4 <sup>a</sup>) The O J paraphrase is alone in describing the Pāṇḍavavyūha as a Śakataavyūha

106

38 <sup>b</sup>) भीमस्य for भीष्मस्य is a clear lapse to which even GK has succumbed. Cal ed om 37<sup>c</sup>-39<sup>b</sup>

44-45 These stanzas are om by the M version, but are present in all the other versions. The procedure of M in omitting, or of ŚKBDTG in retaining the stanzas must have been deliberate. M might have considered the resuming of the fight by Duryodhana as over done and so omitted the lines. On the other hand, the other versions either to comfort old Dhṛtarāṣṭra or to be consistent with Duryodhana's stubborn character, might have added these two stanzas at the end. The former alternative appears to me more plausible, as MSS never made much of a any fetish about omitting or adding lines when it suited their logic or purpose.

107

42 °) मूर्ध्निभवाश्चयात्, a double saṁdhi, which Ś1 Ko-1 D2 & S seek to avoid in various ways

50 °) तव मुनः is given practically by the entire N. The archaic epic use, मुनस्त्वय्य, is given by S

108

5 Quoted in Adbhutaśūgarī, p 47<sup>a</sup>

9 <sup>a</sup>) Quoted, ibid, p 335 — <sup>a</sup>) Quoted, ibid, p 362

12 Quoted, ibid, p 38

110

14 <sup>a</sup>) वेष्टमाना (Ś1 Ko-2 & S), 'lying in a confused heap'. The variants वेष्टमाना, वेष्टमाना or द्रवमाना would hardly suit inanimate objects

112

20 <sup>a</sup>) मिष्टाविव The S1 Ko-2 D1 reading गोवृषी, or the K3 reading वृषी, would suit वाशिता. But the latter word can be used in the general sense of any female in the mating season. It is used of elephants as in l 124 31, of gazelles and even of women. We have accepted मिष्टी, since a change from that to गोवृषी is likely, but not vice versa 133 °) धूमयमाना (S1 Ko 2 M2 & S), rather than धुममाना, is the correct reading. In the misty morning, the banners appeared to give out smoke, which can produce the effect of the portent. Cf 6 3 39

134 <sup>a</sup>) After this, owing to similar ending of 134<sup>d</sup> and 6 113 9<sup>d</sup>, there has been a considerable disturbance in the stanza-order, involving transposition, omission and repetition of lines in TG, M1 s, M2, and M4, of which no plausible explanation seems now possible

113

24 In the Dronaparvan, strangely enough, द्रुपदीक is still fighting, and meets his death (a second time) at the hands of Śalya (of B 7 167 30)

38 <sup>a</sup>) On Śikhandin being wounded by the arrows of Bhīṣma, cf. note on 6 81 17<sup>a</sup>

114

24 <sup>a</sup>) आदाय (Ś1 Ko-1 B2-1 Dn2 D1 & T2 G2) is sufficiently supported. Apparently there has been a sudden change in construction 60 <sup>b</sup>) For the splitting of the pāda as माघमा सेगवाम् इव, cf. the commentaries quoted in the Crit App. In the Śāntiparvan passage (B 12 139) कुम्भी ग्रादति मास्तानि माघमा सेगवा इव, the commentator's explanation is correct, but as the piercing effect of the autumn on the vital parts of the cow is a constantly repeated idea in the epic (cf 6 113 7), we need not reject the obvious interpretation 86 <sup>a</sup>) खर्वित च (S1 K1 2, supported by Ko also), seems to have been changed to दक्षिणेन in all other MSS, on the strength of 88<sup>d</sup>. All that Bhīṣma saw (दृष्टे) was the sun going low towards the setting mountain. After hearing the words of the Vasus (88), Bhīṣma realised that the setting was to the south of the normal setting point, and so decided not to give up the ghost immediately 102 <sup>b</sup>) अमध्यमे (Ś1 Ko-2 T2) has the easily substituted lect fac पितामहे, and the somewhat unexpected अमध्यमे. Cf the variants in 6 115 14<sup>b</sup> and 42<sup>b</sup> also 105 <sup>a</sup>) अतन्द्रित अभाव, 'a sense of void not caused by sleep'

115

41 <sup>b</sup>) व्यवसायपुरोजव (Ś1 Ko-2 D2 T2 M1 [sup lin]) 2 has a number of variants, many of them capable of plausible interpretations 'Firm decision lending prime speed [ to his action ]'

116

1 <sup>d</sup>) अभिजग्मु (K<sub>5</sub> D<sub>2</sub> s c S) The variants attempt to avoid the preposition अभि, which generally conveys the sense of opposition Here अभि = अभिलक्ष्य

3 <sup>ad</sup>) The following ins, 494*, is rightly omitted by Ś<sub>1</sub> K<sub>1</sub> G<sub>1-3</sub>, of 13 below and 6 115 53-54

13 The Kūṭasloka addition<sup>1</sup> of the S recension, 498*, is hardly to be taken in earnest! Not to be outdone in such a matter, K<sub>8</sub> also adds another Kūṭasloka, 499*
